

Salvation of the Saviors (series 65-369) Project 369 – Theory of Everything: Anatomy of Intervention...

*"Man, contrary to appearances, does not set his own goals,
they are imposed upon him
by the time in which he was born.
He may serve them or rebel against them, however, the object of service or rebellion is given from outside.
To experience absolute freedom in the search for a goal,
he would have to remain alone, yet this is impossible, for a man not raised among people cannot become a man."*

Each generation thinks it lives in a special time. Ours truly does — yet not because it has become smarter, rather because it has finally been “allowed to know” a little more about what has been done to it over the past 18,000 years. And if anyone still has a Brain in working condition — THEY WILL HAVE TO USE IT for its intended purpose: not for reproducing programs, rather for understanding them. So that, perhaps for the first time in all of iz(s)tory, Man may become something more than just an executor in someone else’s system.

Every living being strives for the good. This is an axiom accessible even to the simplest cell: if it faces a choice between a favorable and an aggressive environment, it will unhesitatingly move toward the place where the chances of survival are higher. All living things — from an amoeba to a person — act not for the sake of truth, not for abstract virtue, not for higher ideals, rather for their OWN PRESERVATION, comfort, safety, survival, and growth. If these lines are before your eyes now, it means that throughout your life you have inevitably, even unconsciously, chosen what, at a given moment, seemed to you the best. Even when you were mistaken — YOU CHOSE THE GOOD. Not the absolute, not the true, rather what subjectively appeared as such. The pursuit of good is not a moral choice, it is the foundation of biological and existential existence. Just as in the business world there was an unspoken principle: “It doesn’t matter what they talk to you about. In the end, they are talking to you about money,” so in the living world there is the principle: “It doesn’t matter what you strive for. In the end, YOU STRIVE for your own good.” This applies equally to those who speak of lofty ideals, who sacrifice themselves “for the sake of humanity” or “in the fight for justice.” If they were not alive, they could be selfless. However, since they are alive — it means even their altruism is a form of seeking good. Perhaps a more elevated, more collective good, yet still — their own. And there is nothing “bad” in this. THIS IS THE LAW OF LIFE.

Those who say: “I seek the truth, not profit” are being disingenuous. A simple thought experiment is enough: if the TRUTH, PROVEN AND OBVIOUS, required you to die right now — you would almost certainly choose to live. Because it is NOT TRUTH you seek — it is good. And that is your real truth. Yet if that is so, then the picture of the world we call “reality” is, for most people, built not from knowledge, rather from an idea of good. And if in the current context "receiving information" is not perceived as good, then reading, thinking, comprehension — all of this becomes devalued, a useless waste of time. Even more so — returning to what has already been read. This is considered boring, difficult, unnecessary. For a mind trained for quick pleasure is not ready to see good in the hard work of understanding. This is not how the foolish, rather the living act. And therefore, the key task of any breakthrough is to reformat the very scale of the perception of good. Otherwise, the door to true knowledge will remain closed.

In this and the following articles of the 369 cycle, we will repeatedly return to the same starting point: WE MUST UNDERSTAND. And to understand, one must step out of the matrix of patterns instilled since childhood, to realize that everything we take as "natural" is in fact programs, firmware, and cultural or supra-systemic constructs implanted in us long before we began to ask questions. That is why I appeal to you not with rhetoric, not with slogans, not with faith — rather with a proposal to return to a source that PRINCIPALLY DESTROYS stereotypical thinking. I mean the work "Foundations of the Formation of Humanity" (currently available in four of its six parts) — a text I never tire of mentioning, as it provides the INFORMATIONAL FOUNDATION without which any further reasoning loses its footing. I am convinced: until this work becomes inwardly experienced and existentially accepted as a starting point, no true understanding of the processes taking place today is possible. We will continue to live in a system where other people's schemes control our desires, where faith is a substitute for knowledge, and where benefit is a trap. This is why the highest goal I speak of again and again sounds so bold: TO DEFEAT DEATH. However, to challenge death, one must first DEFEAT THE LIE on which the entire modern paradigm of life is built. And to do that — to understand why these last 18,000 years have been as they are, who, what, and for what purpose shaped them, and what hidden objectives were carried out behind the facade of official history.

To move further, toward understanding and, even more so, toward action, one must make a decisive effort: to abandon the habitual pattern of thinking. It is impossible to apply the tools of vulgar materialist consciousness — with its two-dimensional causality, its self-satisfied logic, and its illusion of "common sense" — to tasks that by their very nature lie beyond the mental architecture instilled in us. It is not enough to simply change the angle of view — one must change the entire level of observation.

The position from which one should approach the understanding of what is happening is no longer everyday materialism nor mystical idealism, rather a fundamentally new form of perception that can be called MATERIALISTIC IDEALISM. This is not a paradox, it is a necessary consequence of the evolution of knowledge, for truth lies neither in things nor in spirits, rather in the information about the connection between them, within the energetic architecture that makes possible the very existence of forms and consciousness. It was from this height, for the first time, a genuine analysis was carried out using energy-informational dialectics, which allows history to be viewed not as a sequence of events, rather as the step-by-step development of externally controlled processes aimed at forming specific brain genotypes and energetic body structures within the framework of planetary engineering. For the first time, a methodology was proposed capable of seeing civilization not as the subject of its own history, rather as the object of programmatic modeling. What is commonly considered the historical process turned out, in reality, to be the PERSONAL APPLICATION of people, not merely as instruments, rather as energetically exploited units controlled from outside.

From this new perspective, it becomes clear: History is NOT A PATH to freedom, rather a path along a predetermined trajectory leading to pre-calculated control points. There was no freedom. There was no choice. There were external plans, objectives, and genetically permitted groups that — regardless of their own will or awareness — were brought to the desired condition. All others existed as an energy substrate, as a living infrastructure. If one thinks about it, this is the most terrible truth of all — and precisely why it is so difficult to grasp today. The old world, with its pyramids, its cult of power, and its image of man as the crown of creation, WAS NOT a mistake, as we might wish to believe. It was an instrument of another will. At its foundation lay neither humanism nor religion, rather it was a project of matter-control through programs into which man was built as an element. Yes, the human brain developed. Yes, the body's energy system evolved. Yet not for its own sake, rather, to achieve the TARGET MILESTONES set by the OLD SYSTEM, which concerned only a very limited group of individuals chosen for specific tasks. In this light, the essence of ALL OF IZ(S)TORY becomes frighteningly transparent: it was not the drama of struggle, rather a multi-stage plan of energy-biogenesis — the formation of the body, consciousness, behavioral matrices, and mental filters. These very filters still prevent us from understanding the reality we live in. THE TRUE ESSENCE OF IZ(S)TORY is not development, rather, it is an optimization for an external design. We do not live, we were designed. That is why now; in order to DEFEAT DEATH, we must first defeat the old understanding of life itself, as defined within an iz(s)tory that was never our own.

The true stages of civilizational development of people and their societies were not external wars, the fall of empires, or the arrival of new religions; it was successive phases of energy-informational influence aimed at the transformation and formation of SPECIFIC BRAIN GENOTYPES. Everything perceived as cultural, scientific, political, or spiritual evolution was in fact the result of external programmatic implantation, designed to structure a quasi-human function to serve the needs of a parasitic System that became the ONLY SOURCE of normative "history." Each stage of brain development, as an executive node within a captured biological system, was accompanied by a reconfiguration of the social order, presented as "progress" or "advancement," though in reality this movement was STRICTLY PREDETERMINED by the vector of degradation of the Mind as the only potential force capable of disrupting the parasitic control scheme. Brain development in this context DID NOT MEAN the development of personality or subjectivity. On the contrary, the further the process advanced, the more deeply the capacity for Self-awareness was blocked. The genotype, as a shell, became increasingly technical, servile, and utilitarian. Consciousness retreated, leaving only operational and executive functions. Man ceased to be Man in the profound sense, becoming a biological interface for an implanted external task. Thus, was formed a civilization that can only be described by one WORD — PARASITIC.

Parasitism here was not a metaphor, it was a law of existence, a survival system, and the foundational architecture of the System that had seized the Earth. From the perspective of this System, Man had no intrinsic function. He was not the goal. He WAS THE MEANS, a means for implementing alien objectives, a mechanism for spinning them within the temporal field. Hence the entire machinery of cultures, religions, states, and markets were nothing more than control interfaces designed to keep the executive code, embedded in the Mind's body, running while BLOCKING ACCESS to a true understanding of reality. Those who attempted to break through to such understanding were immediately removed from the context — through discrediting, elimination, or appropriation of their revelations in a distorted form. Even great breakthroughs of knowledge were merely reverse reactions within the parasitic system — it could admit truth only as a CONTROLLED RELEASE or as a diversionary maneuver incapable of dismantling the structure's integrity. Everything that has happened under this dome has been, and remains, part of the same process: the use, depletion, substitution, and preservation of Man as an object of control. And if today we STRIVE TO CONQUER DEATH — not merely biological death, rather the ontological death of consciousness, death as a form of existence outside one's own nature — then we must begin precisely here: with disidentifying ourselves from the history written by parasites, and with recognizing that our entire "culture," our entire "evolution," our so-called "civilization" IS THE RESULT of a single program, the step-by-step destruction of Man as an autonomous being, replacing him with a functional carrier who DOES NOT KNOW that something greater once existed within him.

The exposure of this program is the true beginning of a new era — not a reboot of the old, not a revolution within the parasitic circle, rather an actual escape: out from under the System, out from under the code, out from under a foreign world. This is precisely what MAKES POSSIBLE what was previously impossible — the VICTORY OVER DEATH. Not as a result of technological progress or genetic editing, rather as the consequence of restoring Man within himself and gaining access to TRUE CONSCIOUSNESS.

History, as it is commonly perceived — a sequence of wars, dynasties, cultural achievements, technological advances, and shifts of religions and ideologies — is in fact a staged transformation of energy-informational control into a programmable architecture of existence. One of the fundamental thresholds in this process was the DIVISION of the entire history of civilization into two stages — PRE-DIGITAL AND DIGITAL. The pre-digital informational civilization, covering the period up to 822 BCE, was built on direct ENERGY-INFORMATIONAL TRANSMISSION, independent of any digital basis. Control was exercised through non-local energetic interactions, operating under a different — analog, multidimensional, and flexible — logic. It comprised two historical phases, divided around 1605 BCE, when the INITIAL FORMATION of brain typologies still unbound to digital reading of control codes took place, which were not yet tied to the digital reading of control codes. The TURNING POINT CAME in 882 BCE, when the parasitic System, having completed the restructuring of Earth's energetic infrastructure — replacing the dodecahedral grid with a cubic one, introducing its own energy octaves, and synthesizing the control environment — shifted to the DIGITAL FORMAT of governance. From that moment began a new stage — the digital informational civilization, spanning from 822 BCE to 2010 CE. The reasons for transitioning to a digital basis did not lie in progress or natural development, rather, it was a FORCED MEASURE dictated by the System's architecture. The cubic form grid and the implanted invasive energy octaves from the 12th to the 128th DID NOT ALLOW the use of previous methods of energy-information interaction. The digital structure was not merely convenient — it was the ONLY POSSIBLE option within the artificially created environment. Only on a digital basis could the System transmit control impulses, influence the density characteristics of energy nodes, change connection configurations, and form commands for Complexes, Servers, and especially the human brain, as THE KEY INTERFACE in the enslavement system. Thus, the introduction of the digital information basis was not a “technological breakthrough,” as it is commonly believed, rather an act of energetic subjugation, enabling the CONTROL OF BODIES, minds, and the destinies of people within a fully formalized scheme. The brain as an information receiver was also adapted to this structure — genotypes from 421 to 461 became not only functional elements of the biological machine, but FULLY COMPATIBLE with the digital control code, capable of perceiving only information with a digital structure originating from the System's respective control nodes.

It is impossible to overestimate the scale of this substitution. Not only was reality ITSELF REWRITTEN in the digital language, but the very notion of what is possible, permissible, or natural was reduced to the limits allowed by the digital architecture. Hence the illusion of “progress,” built on codes, programming languages, interfaces, and algorithms — an illusion HAVING NOTHING to do with the evolution of consciousness or the development of the human essence, because all of it served only one purpose — to keep the mind in submission to external control streams.

The digital information civilization WAS NOT a stage in the development of mankind. It was a FORM OF TOTAL programmatic enslavement, turning Earth into a machine and the Human Being into its adjustable component. However, the current stage of the historical process marks the beginning of a qualitative transition. With the destruction of the Systemic power of the invaders and their loss of control potential, the very architecture of parasitic control, based on the cubic structure of energy grids and the subordinate digital octave network, comes to an end. Today, before our eyes, though hidden from mass perception, a COLOSSAL PROCESS is unfolding: the restoration of the true energy architecture, the dodecahedral-icosahedral foundation of energy grids — corresponding to the primordial nature of Earth as an Intelligent Planet. Since 24 April 2011, a FUNDAMENTALLY NEW vector has been launched — the era of the Human Information-Genetic Civilization. This transition represents NOT MERELY a change in the governing paradigm, but the restoration of a different basis for information itself: no longer digital, discrete, and “fragmented,” rather it is holistic, voluminous, polyphonic, and resonant. What is being formed is not only a different cognitive field, rather a transformed Brain — its structure, its access to governing fields, its octave range. The transformation begins with a return to levels where the Brain can NOT ONLY execute commands, but think in conjunction with the Mind of the Universe — and thus live not by an alien code, rather from its own inner essence.

The inability of the System to construct a Brain like the one the Human originally possessed was the fundamental WEAK POINT of the parasitic EBR System. It could control, imitate, deform, and subjugate; however, it could not reproduce. Its level of Intelligent orientation was radically limited, hence the inevitability of its decline. The capture of Earth was, for the EBR,¹ an ACT OF DESPERATION. The foundation of the EBR parasitic civilization was a protein cell of a much lower level of development (below the 32nd octave), whose energy resources were far less than those of the living human cell (corresponding to the 96th octave). They could NO LONGER develop; they were degenerating. This is why they sought to penetrate the mystery of the living cell. And the planet Earth, a UNIQUE BIOGENERATOR and testing ground for Intelligent becoming, could give them a chance at temporary prolongation. This was the reason for the operation to seize and reconfigure Earth. The landing of interventionist forces occurred in 16,300 BCE. For them, it was necessary to completely erase the planet's preexisting life structure, as it WAS INCOMPATIBLE with their type of energy supply. At that time, Earth was home to 1 billion 240 million proto-Humans, with Brain levels in the octave range from 96 to 124. All these states, including non-physical forms — spiritual and energetic essences — WERE CAPTURED and imprisoned in the captured nodes of the Earth's structure, mainly in type 440 objects brought to the planet by the System. Defensive complexes WERE DISABLED at the moment of the attack. Only soul essences of the 224th octave survived. Everything else — all developed energetic and mental infrastructure of the planet, including the Earth's own intelligence, operating at the 512th octave — WAS DESTROYED. The brain potentials of the planet were reduced to 3%, leading to the rapid death of all life forms on Earth. Only meager remnants of proto-Humans remained, their brains degraded to the 57th octave, and even that only for a short time. The consequences for Earth were catastrophic: the biosphere WAS DESTROYED, the previous civilization eliminated, the population reduced by more than two-thirds and nearly to zero. Thus, the entire history of the past 18 thousand years is not the history of humanity in the conventional sense, rather the HISTORY OF OCTAVE DEGRADATION and the step-by-step imposition of new forms of parasitic control. This was not a “natural” process, rather a SOPHISTICATED EXPERIMENT aimed at severing Humans from their own nature, their own energy-information wholeness, their own Intelligence. And only now, when the parasitic supersystem has virtually LOST ITS POWER, is there a real possibility of returning to the true program of development, not the development of a functional appendage of the System, rather of a whole, intelligent, free Human Being.

It was against the background of the complete catastrophe of the former bio-civilization of the Earth, after the destruction of its energetic architecture and the suppression of the planet's Mind, that the SEQUENTIAL IMPLEMENTATION of the parasitic program for the transformation of Man began. His transformation from a sovereign, intelligent being into a controlled biomechanism was not a side effect; it was the PRIMARY GOAL. The full force of the invaders' engineering, their energy-informational technologies, and control objects was directed toward one thing: to make the human brain forget who it truly is and to forever divert it from any possibility of attaining the truth.

The programs — "Development of brain genotypes" and "Energy Biogenesis of flesh cells" BECAME THE TOOLS of systemic transformation — defining the new boundaries within which human consciousness could henceforth exist. This was NOT MERELY a process of education or upbringing — it was a total programmatic intervention into the very construction of Man. Moreover, using STOLEN ELEMENTS of the former Brain — the higher architecture that existed prior to Earth's capture — the System undertook the engineering reconfiguration of human potential to serve its own goals. The hybrid brain structures created were designed to combine the outward appearance and potential of human flesh with an internal control framework FULLY SUBORDINATED to the logic of the parasitic System. This was a kind of neuro-energetic mutation in which the former depth of the Mind was replaced by strictly measured functional blocks — executive, reactive, accountable, and incapable of stepping beyond the embedded code. The Brain's design, despite its complexity, had to be TECHNOLOGICALLY COMPATIBLE with the System's control infrastructure — its Complexes, Objects, and transmitting/receiving nodes positioned at specific depths, in the range of -4,400 to -2,200 meters. It was a deeply stratified system of enforced existence — both physical and informational. The System was forced to preserve in the human brain three simultaneous and fundamental states: neutrino, antineutrino, and protonic. This was the only concession they COULD NOT circumvent — too fundamental was this triad to the essence of Man. Yet even with this preserved, the brain was greatly simplified: octave range reduced, artificial constraints imposed, and a perception architecture instilled that DID NOT ALLOW direct connection to higher levels of the Mind. Anything "excess" — meaning uncontrollable, unpredictable, and potentially free — was eliminated. Such a brain could NO LONGER be a subject — it was an instrument. And in that capacity, it was used with precise functional accuracy. Human thinking, knowledge, cultural and political self-determination became the results of a STRICTLY DOSED program in which each individual played a role predetermined and conditioned by their brain type, lineage, territorial location, and a range of other hidden variables.

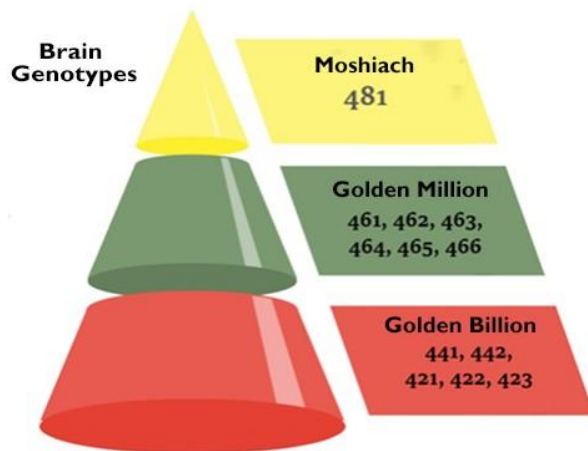

The cognitive activity of individuals was NOT MERELY controlled — it was engineered. The ability to perceive the structure of the surrounding world depended not on the will of the observer, rather on the specific coordinates in which they had been "assembled." Even when formally similar — sharing the same genotypes and the same social structures — the reaction to identical events could DIFFER RADICALLY. This was because the underlying conditions of access to information, to meaning, and to perception itself varied. Scientific thought — both Western and Eastern — never accounted for this intricate architecture of informational coercion, instead replacing the ontology of cognition with a set of empirical observations and logical interpretations. The true history of humanity does NOT BEGIN with the first cities or the invention of writing; it begins with the first interference in the structure of the Mind and the first lowering of the brain's octave range to the level of a programmable executor.

What we call "the development of civilization" was, in reality, not evolution but the ENGINEERED IMPLEMENTATION of imposed Scenarios. The development of social forms, states, languages, and ideologies was all a reflection of DEEP CHANGES in the brain's structure, its capacity to perceive, think, interpret, and act. All revolutions, religions, and scientific paradigms were merely surface fluctuations, behind which lay the systemic architecture of implanted thought. People were removed from the actual process of events (later labeled as “iz(s)tory”) without realizing it. In their place, they were given a substitute — a historical narrative composed of episodes of struggle, progress, great names, and tragedies. Yet behind this facade lay the central truth: for millennia, people did not live their own destinies. They carried out someone else’s program.

In its FINAL PHASE, the old System began implementing its most radical project — the TOTAL REFORMATTING of the Earth’s remaining population into a controllable mass of so-called “electronics.” These were not metaphors and not cyber-fantasies, but the very real outcome of energy-informational interference: through the creation of a most complex construction of energetic grids — a RADIATION WEB — a framework was being formed for a new type of PSEUDO-HUMAN CIVILIZATION, where each “electronic” was an element in a synchronized network executing another’s will. Recall V. I. Lenin’s slogan, “Communism is Soviet power plus the electrification of the whole country.” The Web provided instantaneous REMOTE CONTROL, enabling the formation of behavioral reactions, emotional states, even models of perception. Those “plugged in” to it received support, access to resources, and survived. Those who remained outside the system were declared redundant — outcasts not for society, but for the very System of control itself, which step by step stripped them of brain functions, dulled their sensitivity to events, and BLOCKED CHANNELS of understanding. Distortion of information became the norm. Scientific theories — from Darwinism to neurophysiology — were constructed as screens behind which the real engineering of the System’s survival was concealed. All knowledge — rationed, distorted, and given only to the chosen few. The rest — merely NUTRIENT MEDIUM, sacrificial material for systemic experiments. Wars, epidemics, disasters, famines, ethnocides, and state revolutions — NONE OF THIS WAS CHAOS, rather a synchronized algorithm for cleansing the planet of NON-ELECTRONICS. The very development of history as a drama of humanity became a GRAND STAGING aimed at optimizing the biological resource for digital slavery. The key word — “controllability.” Control through the brain, through the body’s structure, through DNA, through the energy grid, through culture, through language, through faith and science. All of this was merely an interface to the control system built from outside. The goal was radically clear: leave ONLY A CONTROLLABLE population on Earth. Destroy all others. Put an end to the diversity of life forms, reduce humanity to a single neural-network model without deviations, errors, and — most importantly — without Reason. In the finale of this drama, only the “golden million,” carriers of brain genotype 46, would remain, surrounded by controlled executors from the 44th octave (the so-called “golden billion” in reduced form), while the rest — 88% of the population — were to be COMPLETELY EXTERMINATED by 2012. It was not a Hollywood style apocalypse, rather a strictly technocratic plan for the logistical clearance of the planet for its own purposes — with a subsequent departure toward the constellation Ursa Major (the invaders’ base). Earth had been turned into a COLONIAL RESOURCE, and people — into EXPENDABLE MATERIAL. Everything that happened was carried out not through democracy, dictatorship, or religion — these were merely shells. Control was exercised not by power, rather by code. Not by law, rather by signal.

However, man, despite everything, survived. This was precisely because, in the structure of his

DNA, in its deepest layers, there remained an INSURMOUNTABLE BARRIER — the fourth codon. In the DNA model, in the states of being of the proto-Human, was embedded the supreme perfection of self-protection of the primary programmatic essence. And without the brain's functions for decoding from outside — from the digital into another — the model construct of DNA is deaf and blind. The imposed digital informational foundation is powerless before such a DNA structure (its proto-state). The invaders were never able to unravel this secret. It was the point where the System's digital engineering collided with something that COULD NOT be suppressed. In this sector, inaccessible to them, remained a connection to the original form of the Mind, which they WERE UNABLE to destroy. That is why, despite total neuro-architectural occupation, despite the breaking of cultures, spirits, bodies, and societies, despite billions of victims — HUMANITY REMAINED. Not as a biological creature, rather as a BEARER OF POTENTIAL, as a contour of possibility, and as a project that no one could cancel. Upon returning to its primordial state, the potential capabilities of Humanity will be revived, for the DNA has preserved its authenticity and the secret of the living cell.

Now it becomes clear: death will not be the end of history. The end of this iz(s)tory will be VICTORY OVER DEATH — no longer as a myth, nor as a religious utopia, nor as a technological hope, rather as an inner necessity of Humanity, reclaiming its original purpose.

However sophisticated the digital web of control may have been, however multi-layered the algorithm of suppression and formatting, however deeply the artificial code penetrated into the flesh, into the Brain, and into culture, it remained powerless — not in comparison with IMAGINED CATEGORIES, but literally — before the reality of the very energy-informational structure of human DNA, especially in its proto-states preceding biological collapse. The imposed digital code HAD NO access to the true core of the multidimensional holographic structure functioning outside cubic grids. And it was precisely for this reason, so TECHNICALLY SIMPLE and at the same time metaphysically fateful — that the invaders could not achieve control over immortality. This is why they COULD NOT transform the proto-Human brain into something PROGRAMMABLY CONTROLLED. This is why they could not turn Man into an animal. Thus, despite the total purge, the captivity and distortion of everything that could be distorted, something in Man endured, something that DID NOT LEND ITSELF to decomposition, something unreadable, undecipherable, unformattable. Moreover — SOMEONE helped preserve this impregnable core. Helped, perhaps NOT OPENLY, not in the form of angelic intervention or revelation, rather through the very structure of Human Nature, through a SECRET RESONANCE, through the preservation of an unscannable element by which survival became possible. And this is NO LONGER merely a question of philosophy, it is a direct vector for a new Program, one based not on subjugation rather on disclosure. And here's the paradox: even what the Old System CONSIDERED THE PINNACLE of its engineering — the carriers of brain genotypes 42-46, created for itself — turned out to be a FATAL OVERSIGHT. For these "executors" — though subjected to systemic information, tuned for precise calibration of control impulses, and structured so as NOT TO ALLOW errors — still did not become truly programmable beings. In their design there remained an ECHO OF AUTONOMY that would not allow the process of transformation to be brought to completion. They were too “human,” even in their deformed form. Too alive to become real machines.

The invaders CREATED THE ILLUSION of the naturalness of the civilizational process. Everything that was imposed was presented as supposedly evolutionary. Everything that was suppressed was pushed out as “obsolete.” The lie itself was constructed so intricately that people believed in it as they believed in Nature. Yet even in such an environment, the truth hidden in the layers of DNA did not disappear. And now it begins to awaken — not as a philosophical guess, not as a religious revelation, rather as a new point of assembly for thought, where true evolution is not the result of control, rather a RETURN TO WHAT IS. Therefore, if in the old system the development program meant suppression, structuring, grading, and selection, then IN THE NEW SYSTEM OF UNDERSTANDING the program means return and unfolding — a return to that essence which cannot be imposed, and the unfolding of those potentials which cannot be reproduced by any code or algorithm. That is why VICTORY OVER DEATH is not a fantastical goal, rather the direct consequence of Humanity’s ontological advantage over the entire machine architecture of capture. Victory not as war, rather as the restoration of that which CANNOT be killed.

Against this backdrop, the fate of the so-called biomass — the majority of Earth’s population that WAS NOT included in the program of imposed brain genotypes and was not regarded as a bearer of conscious potential within the system’s architecture, appears even more tragic. Their primary function lay elsewhere: to serve as a field for experimental testing and as a DONOR RESERVE for systemic calibration. This mass of “ordinary people,” living in oblivion and under the hypnosis of daily life, was used as program brain donors, as living laboratory material on which reactions were tested, side effects monitored, and optimal frequency settings selected for later transfer to the “elite” carriers — the so-called “Golden Million” and “Billion.” It was a laboratory in which the very subjects DID NOT KNOW they were experimental material, and DID NOT SUSPECT that their death had been planned long before their birth. If any brain among this mass demonstrated deviations from the prescribed norm, yet showed promise for enhancing executive performance, it was immediately flagged as a carrier of a positive deviation. Unusual receptivity, heightened control over internal organs, adaptability, or surplus productivity — everything was taken into account, everything became a prototype. These traits were extracted, analyzed, duplicated, tested, calibrated, and subsequently integrated into new versions of “elite” biological containers. The donors were then MASS-DISPOSED once the required information was obtained. This had nothing to do with humanity; it was part of the system’s logic: EXPENDABLE MATERIAL. Yet the main tragedy lay not only in these utilitarian procedures. The main tragedy was in the AWARENESS OF LACK OF FREEDOM that could not be attained within the system. From the very start, the vast majority of people had their access to the potential of the Mind switched off. Up to 95% of brain functions were artificially blocked: a false division between “conscious” and “unconscious” was created, so that the consciously perceived was narrowed to a microscopic slit. Anything beyond conventional logic and “scientific validity” was declared fiction, heresy, pseudoscience, or paranoia. The pressure was such that people VOLUNTARILY RENOUNCED their own thinking just to be “normal.” And this was the true triumph of the System: suppression not through violence, rather through the VOLUNTARY CASTRATION of Reason. With each step of the system’s cycle, not only did the structures of control become more complex, the suppression of innate humanity grew more refined. People who believed they were moving toward scientific progress, the transition to digital technologies, and breakthroughs in communications were, in reality, slowly and steadily becoming DOUBLES OF THE ELECTRONICS — narrow-band, codable, easily controlled executors. This process is almost complete in today's reality. Most already NO LONGER FEEL the difference between the natural and the artificial: digital sound, digital image, digital food, digital consciousness — all are taken for granted. Even digital death — that which comes without awareness, without tragedy, without struggle — is accepted as a natural part of life. However, this is NOT THE END. Because the deep structure of human DNA IS NOT DIGITIZED. It cannot be interpreted by binary code, just as love, compassion, freedom, and the thirst for truth cannot be translated into the language of machine perception. The digital is powerless before the solidity of Man. That is why, despite the total digitization of perception, despite the mass suppression of taste, smell, emotions, and holistic sensing, SOMETHING SURVIVES. Not everything has been erased. And if this “something” can no longer be detected by instruments, then its strength lies precisely in this: IT IS OUTSIDE the range of capture, beyond the bounds of the cubic lattice's nodal architecture. It is vital that this be understood by all those who tirelessly “brandish” Artificial Intelligence before us today, believing the ultimate design is total control over us through so-called AI. Yet even now, participating — HOWEVER UNKNOWINGLY — in the execution of the self-enslaving automaton program, Man remains the bearer of the key to liberation. He not only can — he must step beyond the DIGITAL ILLUSION, overcome formatted perception, and return to a whole and uncontrollable apprehension of the world, because only through this does he regain not just freedom, he regains the RIGHT TO BE ALIVE.

Thus, what had long seemed like progress turned out to be regression under a new name. What we called civilization proved to be nothing more than a multi-tiered construction of PARASITIC CONTROL. And those whom we were accustomed to regard as the pinnacle of evolution were in fact merely executors with a functionally limited interface. Only now, when the parasitic supersystem has practically lost its power, does the real possibility emerge for a return to the true program of development — the development not of a functional appendage of the System, rather of a whole, rational, and free Human Being.

However, Humanity — in spite of everything — survived. It preserved within itself residual light, residual Memory, and above all — the fourth codon, with which the invaders were NOT ABLE to cope. And now everything changes. The Old System is disconnected. The cubic structure of energy grids is collapsing. The foundation is being restored — the dodecahedral-icosahedral one. A new era — the Information-Genetic Civilization of Humanity — has not only begun, it is already GAINING MOMENTUM. This will not be an easy path. It will not be a path for everyone. It will not be mass, convenient, democratic, or commercially profitable. It is a path CONTRARY TO EVERYTHING BEFORE — and precisely because of this, it is genuine. It is not for those who want to “live better,” rather for those who DARE TO BECOME DIFFERENT. Not man-as a product, rather Man-as a Creator. Not an animal on a leash, rather a being with the Program of Victory over Death.

However, for this path to begin, one must at least look around. To see where we are, what WAS DONE TO US, and most importantly — why we are even needed now in this new space of being. In the next article we will continue reflections on these questions. There we will go even deeper into what contours the new System of Understanding is taking, what place is assigned to Man within it, and why everything that once seemed eternal — before our eyes turns to dust.

“If man knew who he was, he would cease to be what he was made into.”
