

Salvation of the Saviors. 12_369 What we strive for...

Author F.D. Shkrudnev.

At the beginning of research, the question always arises: What is the goal I want to achieve? When the goal is determined, it is necessary to decide which road to take and what to take with you. What difficulties may be encountered and what languages will have to be explained. But along with simple and straightforward questions, there are often questions that are not usually thought about. This would not arise if one thought not only about the goal, but also about the future of one's brainchild. And the future is defined in the infrastructure that one creates on the way to achieving one's goal. This is just my opinion. It must be understood. There is no need to believe anything. I am counting on those who understand, not those who believe...

When developing strategies for the transition to a new stage of our development in today's modern world, when determining ways to bring people out of a state in which they found themselves today not by their own will, first of all, it is necessary to understand and take into account the revealed root causes of the consequences that led all of us to this. And as a result, it is necessary to form proactive strategies in advance, to determine and prepare such actions that would inevitably and without deviations lead only to the required events, which would find harmony with the overall goals of the chronoprocess of the Transition period.

In his time, Niccolò Machiavelli (1469-1527) wrote: "There is nothing harder than to plan, nothing more doubtful than to hope for success, nothing more dangerous than to create a new system. The creator of the new system will inevitably encounter the self-serving enmity and resistance of all those who, taking advantage of the fruits of the old system, guard it, and those who, expecting to benefit from the new, will only support the creator of the new system with promises." We will not believe any promises and will try to figure it all out – by ourselves.

The circumstances in world politics are such that information about mentalities¹, or rather about the genotypes of the Brain and the development of these genotypes — should be VERY MUCH in DEMAND today in order to somehow try to understand everything that is happening around us and in which we voluntarily or involuntarily take part, sometimes without realizing it. Moreover, this information was carefully hidden from all people. Understanding this provides an answer to the main question of our time — why has no global political project, designed for centuries, succeeded since the 19th century? The importance of this issue is very great, because even the super-modern projects, in which all the power of modern science was invested: "Globalization", "Consumer Society", "The Third Industrial Revolution", "Democratization", etc. were stopped in just a few days, in the time "window" created by the COVID-19 pandemic. In fact, the pandemic and the almost overnight closure of the borders of states, regions, the stopping of industries, the forced severance of economic and social contacts WERE REQUIRED as necessary as the braking before the danger lurking ahead in the darkness, within the processes taking place that are changing everything and all things! There is no need to list these dangers. They are known to ecologists, demographers, economists, and other scientists. Therefore, an urgent suspension of all life support processes on a global scale has long been required to analyze the modern world order: in order for people, those absolutely many people who do not know about the Management System, or the Life Support System, or about many other things that my readers already know a lot about, to think — there is a mistake in his project (in the project of the constructed world order). In fact, the closure of borders for the movement of people, goods, and information is the beginning of a forced (quite expected) dismantling of Globalization. Of course, this topic is NOT WIDELY DISCUSSED, because there is enough panic in the world because of the real danger of Covid-19, and the authorities do not want to increase it by studying the causes of pogroms in the most stable countries of the world — recent examples of "democracy and freedom". Whether spontaneous, or organized — it does not matter. What is important is that a critical mass of people have been released into the streets, who are abandoning their past, their history: they destroy monuments to the creators of their own civilization, set fire to temples, destroy religious symbols, books, films, performances, rename streets and cities, etc. The demonstrators make it clear that this is NOT THEIR WORLD, NOT THEIR STATES, NOT THEIR LIFE. They are strangers in this world order. They let us know that there is a very serious mistake in the world order project that needs to be urgently corrected, despite the pandemic and without paying attention to the economic consequences of stopping everything and all things.

The denial of their own history, mass attempts to ask for forgiveness on the knees of those who declare themselves a victim of our civilization — this is the dismantling of the political system for which the "Project of the USSR" was destroyed, launched at one time as part of the development of the Brain genotype and the creation of a certain mentality on our territory — the territory of the USSR. A long-standing, historical and strategic "mistake", originally made by the ebrami, who planned the strategy for the development of the Brain genotype, "came out of the bag like an awl". And the information that we have received in recent years from N. Levashov, A. Khatybov, the works — "Fundamentals of the Formation of Humanity" and from other sources, which is becoming available today — voluntarily or involuntarily touches on this error. And there is not even a shadow of political bias or scientific bias in this. This "mistake" led to the dismantling of the entire old System of Government and the transition to a New System of Government, but this transition is equally dangerous for representatives of all the so-called political forces, and most importantly — for the peoples of the planet. Do not underestimate what is happening — you need to understand it, and then the right way out will open. Everything that has happened and what is happening in the future cannot be explained by current science — the methodological platform of the materialistic worldview does not allow it. People are not able to influence changes in the course of everything that happens, and the consequences can be extraordinary! Program changes are being implemented by the management of the environment and habitat on Earth.

Everything that occurring excludes accidents, ABSOLUTELY EVERYTHING IS CONTROLLED, including the processes associated with the preservation of life on the planet. However, within this framework, it is extremely advisable to understand what is managed, how and by whom it is managed, and most importantly — for what.

Then those directions of events which are already manifested and will be manifested through people for us in the foreseeable future and IN PERSPECTIVE UNDERSTANDING of what all our thoughts should be directed to, connected with execution of all program changes in this Transition period. The stages of Transition and the Goal Vector of future event processes are already manifested and are being implemented before our eyes, whether we want them to or not. Of the two truly scary factors at the beginning of 2020: the first is the coronavirus, but the second is even worse — "mismanagement"²: the helplessness of politics in controlling the consciousness and behavior of the planet's population. Politics has become the subject of jokes, satire, mockery, even contempt. Although politicians work and pass thousands of laws, good and bad, trying to balance consumption and resources, money supply and goods, freedom and duties, however, the LAWS are NOT ENACTED. This is in spite of the fact that a whole army of experts in manipulating people's consciousness and behavior serve the functioning of the world order system. The size of this "army of mind-manipulation specialists" is comparable to the number of people employed in the real economy. This army consists of economists, psychologists, sociologists, judges, lawyers, journalists, writers, directors, artists, deputies, officials, police, and many others. All of them are specialists in working with consciousness by the methods of their profession. They have in their hands all the tools to influence consciousness and behavior: education, media, TV, social networks, art, literature, advertising, prisons! But the army of specialists of no less number invents ways of NON-COMPLIANCE with the LAW, creating its own illegitimate "pseudo-world order". Even in the face of deadly danger during the pandemic, many people did not follow the mandatory rules of life in conditions of "self-isolation". The lack of control over the life support of society today has become a global problem, and the reasons for this lack of control go far beyond the scope of any one state — they are victims of the same mistake in the world order system. You can certainly THROW yourself INTO the STUDY of the planetary, historical, fundamental psychological and political principles of the world order. But this will be another waste of time or reflection, which will lead along the well-trodden rails that lead not to an answer, but to a dead end.

It is necessary to try to cause reflection on the enigmatic mentality and provide the reader; or rather those who still dare to learn the material (information) for their own speculation on the problem of the program development process of the brain genotypes and energy biogenesis, which has come to the culmination of its completion. The execution processes, managed and controlled by the System, have already acquired a RIGID PACE and tact of the general ongoing chronoprocess. Among people everywhere, the process of translating the former life-affirming FOUNDATIONS into a NEW STATE of IMMATERIAL reality in everything is activated. All the vices of people have acquired a stable, unshakable state that determines the norms of life of all people. This is today's life-gaining mentality. And it should certainly be taken into account when understanding the strategies of transition to a new stage of development of Civilization, which every day become a reality of our existence and all that is happening around us and in the world as a whole.

Unfortunately, today science is increasingly regulated, as if it were accounting. Therefore, many, or rather most, reject the new knowledge, which practically destroys the entire basic platform on which, until now, it was based. But the NEW is VERY EASILY perceived within the framework of what we have already learned and, of course, within the framework of the fundamental study of the "Foundations of the Formation of Humanity", which became a forerunner in understanding what happened and what is happening to us all around the world. Here there is a place for understanding the psychology of people, and for the psychology of mentality, or the development of the Brain genotype from the moment of its creation and the justification for its creation, and for futurology, and for almost everything that is given to us as "a certain path of historical development of Civilization" and the psychology of this.

In the haste of the new political reality, there is NO TIME to realize that all of everyday consciousness and the idea of the world and what is happening within the framework of the Brain genotypes already created, de facto consists of three parts: 1) the operational part — "human thinking at the level of specific brain development and its mentality within this genotype"; 2) the tactical part — "the social and personal process of cognition"; 3) the strategic part — "a new look and philosophical understanding of what is happening".

The operational part within the framework of human thinking develops and uses the tools of upbringing, education, treatment and improvement of a person by methods of general, differential, pedagogical, medical knowledge, psychotherapy, etc. The operational consciousness of the Brain (mentality) today deals with the inner circle of human problems: the conformity of its behavior to generally accepted standards. Success (or not) here brings a highly professional knowledge of the "past" of a person, materialized in the physiology of his so-called "higher nervous activity, psychophysiology", and in the ability (or not) to "recreate everything as it was before": attention, consciousness, thinking, perception, emotions. This works for a person "here and now", without dealing with the question of what kind of life a person was prepared for or is now preparing for. The greatness of operational thinking lies in the fundamental knowledge of a person's past. This is one of the problems that prevent us from realizing the realities of today.

The tactical part of human thinking within the framework of cognition uses the tools of social, legal, engineering psychology, medical psychology, providing an adequate relationship of a person with another person, with a group of people, with technical systems and the environment. It also studies and captures the inner circle of human problems that exist in real time and space and are available for objective measurement. Success here brings highly professional (depending on personal professionalism) knowledge of the present, to which it is necessary to adapt to a person or group of people with a specific mentality (Brain genotype).

The strategic part — understanding of what is happening, works with the external, distant range of problems of a person and society at the intersection of political, economic, subjective experience, futurology and strategic forecasting. There is AN ATTEMPT TO STUDY the future of a person, those changes in his consciousness and behavior that did not take place in the past, which are absent in the present — but which are approaching faster and faster, and "they are already here". This makes it possible, at least to some extent, to realize the realities of today, however, not for everyone, but only for those who have decided to embark on the path of knowledge of the truth.

Fundamental and large-scale changes in all spheres of life transcend science fiction. Now there is a "new political reality", which manifests itself in the rejection of the systems of international treaties, obligations, norms of international relations, recognition of borders, etc. In the minds of most people, these changes are defined psychologically as: "Unusual" — we do not have ready-made "good" answers for innovation; "Unacceptable" — innovations in politics seem unnatural to us; "Unexpected" — innovations are not at all what we expected them to be; "Suddenness" — innovations happen exactly when we did not expect them. Without predicting strategic changes and anticipating them, no nation or state has a chance of survival. So it happened with the USSR, when non-material tools of destruction were put into action against it, which were not used before, and were not used by the will of man, as modern analysts and scientists believe, namely, within the framework of programs for the development of the Brain genotype.

Today, many representatives of the so-called "elite" believe that there is a danger that the Russian Federation may repeat the experience of the USSR, if it continues to ignore the strategic iz(s)toria of what happened to the USSR and the role of the United States in this, although the "Project USA" today fell into the same trap of misunderstanding the strategy of political mentality, into which the USSR was lured earlier. This is how all global and necessary transformations are implemented and solved within the framework of the Management System or more precisely, the implementation of the goal vector, to which people HAVE NO RELATIONSHIP, are embodied and solved. But all this happens through them, through people, with the involvement of their mentality, who believe that it is theirs, a specific mentality of the decision that led to this or that result.

But there are also experts who believe that the importance and role of mentality in the perception of what is happening and what has happened is greatly exaggerated. I have heard this more than once. They argue that mentality is a form of racism, sometimes self-racism, whose only function is to justify political leadership, to REMOVE RESPONSIBILITY from those who actually bear it, who have the resources and make decisions, shifting it to a silent people, who can be given any nasty qualities, if only a propaganda mouthpiece was handy. However, there are all well-known concrete historical examples in which the mentality, or to be more exact, it is the genotype created within the framework of specific tasks, played a decisive role, crossing out the political plans of entire countries, political movements and the most prominent leaders.

So far, neither political scientists, nor economists, nor historians, nor philosophers HAVE GIVEN a convincing explanation of the "unknown" that literally in hours "turned off" the entire defense system of the giant Russian Empire in 1917, and the mighty Romanov dynasty became "nothing" in a few hours! Where were the people? The monarchists? "The Union of the Russian People", the "Russian Assembly," the "United Nobility," the "Russian Monarchist Party"? There were 850 Orthodox icons in the bedroom of Empress Alexandra Feodorovna. So where were the monks and clergymen when Generals Kornilov and Alexeyev arrested Nicholas II and his family on 8 March, 1917? Not a single person (!) tried to protect them! Not one.

No rational science of consciousness and behavior CAN EXPLAIN why the emperor's personal guard, the Semyonovsky Lifeguard Regiment, betrayed him and swore an oath to the Provisional Government. This is the regiment that pacified Krasnaya Presnya in 1905, and after the revolution became the most reliable combat unit of the Bolshevik Uritsky! Unbelievable! It is also inexplicable that when on 4 March, General Alekseev, by his order No. 344, took away from Nicholas II "His Majesty's Own Convoy", the Cossacks with a clear conscience they immediately went home, some to the Kuban, and some to the Terek. And this after three hundred years of loyal service! And the entire tsarist secret services, including the Palace Police, fled by the evening of 28 February, 1917! However, we do not even think about it, but accept and believe that we know everything, since at school we read and "studied" this period from textbooks of "iz(s)toria". And today, this approach to knowledge in us is firmly embedded in the postulates from the school bench.

If this example has already "gone down in history", then there is a recent one: THE TRAGIC LOWERING of the USSR FLAG over the Kremlin on 25 December, 1991 at 19:35! What is incredible is that NOT a SINGLE PERSON tried to prevent it! Neither the army, nor the Navy, nor the secret services that swore allegiance to this flag, nor any of the eighteen million members of the CPSU. No matter what experts say about this: neither politicians, nor psychologists, nor economists have presented convincing reasons for the collapse in a matter of days and hours, without the defeat in the war of the brilliant "Project of the USSR", which defeated the project of "German nationalism" and successfully competed with the liberal "Projects of the United States and the EU". It is impossible to explain where the power of the "project of the USSR", with all its congresses of the CPSU and the Supreme Soviets, with tanks, cannons, planes, and missiles, had gone at this hour.

Neither economics, nor philosophy, nor politics, nor psychology, nor the military situation COULD convincingly explain such world-changing catastrophes. Many have tried to explain the catastrophe of the "USSR Project" — the reason for the collapse of the "USSR Project" was the DEATH OF PARTY ELITES. But the possibility of betrayal was provided by the management system in both the Empire and the USSR: it was thought over, calculated in detail, perfectly executed, and repeatedly tested in the hardest historical trials. It is unlikely that such petty representatives of the elite as Guchkov, Kerensky, Ruzsky, Khrushchev, etc., could "beat" the security services of their states. And for some reason we don't even remember or think about this, about what happened right in front of our own generation, against the background of what is going on around us today — taking it as given, connecting it with certain names, "parties" and everything that is presented to us on the internet and in the media.

A long and comprehensive study of both cases from the point of view of New Knowledge shows that the political behavior of people in critical situations is controlled not by their consciousness, but by their mentality (a genotype that has received specific information from outside for execution within the framework of the tasks and changes being solved!). And in both cases, the people and the officials, organized by the instruments of consciousness (monarchical, socialist), refused to defend them, as political constructs alien... to their mentality. The mentality of the people WAS NOT TAKEN into ACCOUNT in the political superstructure of either tsarist Russia or the USSR. They were strangers.

Here lies the reason why, at the slightest weakening of the position of political consciousness under the pressure of a real, but unaccounted for mentality (the Brain genotype of specific performers), empires, republics, unions are destroyed, kings are executed, political regimes that yesterday supported millions of supporters and protected the world's best special services, disappear. And in order to hide everything that was connected with the cognition of Brain genotypes, through political positivists, only what could be called "rational" (consciousness) was left in politics, and everything that could be considered "irrational" (mentality — genotype) was removed. The irrational is not that which is beyond reason, but that which is not deciphered by reason. Therefore, when people return to what they have already learned — they come to the conclusion, THAT IS the fatal cause for the "lack of control" of modern civilization, which they try to minimize with "digital civilization" during the pause created by COVID-19.

And if we look at what is happening from the point of view of irrationality, then the truth becomes that by the end of the period (before 1990), the program process of the development of Brain genotypes and energy biogenesis had reached the CULMINATION of ITS COMPLETION. The performing states of all spheres of organized human existence began to take on a different form. In the field of finance, social parasitism has increased, limited by the framework of planetary parasitism — the "Globalization" program. The old forms of manifestation of performing program states COULD NO LONGER cover the growing volumes of their needs, so in 1990 the following, 461 genotype was introduced (support — Complex California). The entire structure of the energy-information transmission of management (at this point) was FINALLY TRANSFERRED to the basis of digital technologies for the main vector — the conditioned possibility of switching to a completely different form of worldview, and as one of the components of this — the release of money, associated with their new system of accounting, application and imposed paid burdensome services through electronic media and control portals. At the same time, a NEW FORM OF MONEY was introduced — electronic money.

They acquired a previously nonexistent special state — they began to possess a conditional virtual value outside the material world, outside the conscious tangibility of people, outside the real worldview. Henceforth, a virtual delusion began to rule the world through its own world financial system, created for the future leading genotype of the Brain! It is worth CONSIDERING THE MEANING of the fact that the Budget Law is adopted annually. Through some pathetic conditional numbers, allegedly calculated by some "madmen from the cage of financial colonizers" of the pro-Western service, the whole meaning of life of the people of our vast country is determined through "their - other people's money". CAN'T people be aware of the dangerous, irrational, and "organized" existence of a greedy financial group on the verge of a complete collapse of all the foundations of life? Why is it impossible to resist the pronounced FINANCIAL PARASITISM of a general planetary scale, organized by a group of banks? The real and precise reason is this, and understanding this, it becomes obvious what happened in 1917 and in 1991 regarding the "collapse of the USSR project".

Through individuals of the 46 Brain Genotype, the System (controlling influence of the CC Caucasus, Alps and California) HAS IMPLEMENTED a special technology to control the executive actions of all people through complex violence over them, without access to their active meaningful positional participation. The system has ensured and accompanied:

- the level of consciousness of people, which led to their complete receptivity and compliance with the illusory worldview of the resulting reality;
- the absurd and completely unfounded complete worship of all people and states before the virtual structure of a CERTAIN WORLD GOVERNMENT, which granted itself the independent right to unconsciously form the amount of electronic money required by the current and future conditions for holding the unconditional financial colonization of all countries and peoples of the planet.

However, the performance processes, organized and controlled by the New Management System, have now acquired a rigid pace and tact of the general chronoprocess. Among people everywhere, the PROCESS has been ACTIVATED of translating the former life-affirming foundations into a new state of IMMATERIAL reality in everything. All the vices of people have acquired a stable, unshakable state that determines the norms of the present and future existence of all people. This is revealed to more and more people who have chosen a life path of knowledge for themselves.

Today, many people believe that humanity develops naturally. Unfortunately, THIS IS NOT THE CASE. The current civilization is one of the possible projects of the world order, which can have errors, like any project. One of the most sensible scientists, in my opinion, Professor T. V. Chernigovskaya, is de-(c)pondering the errors in the world order project: "There is a civilization of idleness, for which we are also, in general, not ready... What are all those people who will be replaced by digital systems going to do? When people say to me, "there is room for creativity," it makes me smile sarcastically. Do you really think that countless thousands, in fact, millions of people, will start writing madrigals and playing the lute in the time released from hard work? Are you serious? The exact opposite will happen. And we can't pretend otherwise."

Here she is only alluding to the now existing and diverse (multidimensional) mentality within the Brain genotype. What she said should be understood, above all, as the beginning of a process independent of people to weaken the previously imputed parasitism in the structure of society's past organized life-support and existence.

I would especially like to note for those who think — the solution of today's processes through revolutions and violence — on the part of the reconstituted true System of Management in the current event processes DOES NOT AND IS NOT FORCED. And what is extremely important — according to their previously endowed capabilities of the functional states of the Brain for receiving information of a cognitive and controlling nature, both the insignificant power minority and the predominant performing majority equally CANNOT any longer be understood and applied at a level higher than the current achieved development of states of Consciousness and Mind within their specific mentality. That is why, in such an unchanged state of brain functions, the majority of people have a barrier limit to the perfection of the development of states of both Consciousness and Reason in the conditions of the manifested and surrounding reality. This is what T. V. Chernigovskaya meant in her reflections. However, she is not aware of the possibilities of already applied Technologies, which in one form or another make it possible to overcome this barrier. And here I want to emphasize — not all users of these Technologies. Everything, first of all, depends only on the person himself and his purposefulness. But in the right direction. Look carefully at what is happening around us and DO NOT MAKE hasty conclusions within the framework of "bad — good". Look at what is happening within the framework of your knowledge and mentality. Of the more than seven billion people on the planet, only about 800 million are employed in industry, slightly less in agriculture. Many were brought to the service sector, which has twice as many people as in industry. The rest — outside the structures of the world order — are superfluous. The "decision-makers" managed to create a pseudo-employment, allowing endless streams of cars on long-distance highways and bridges; by lifting thousands of airbuses into the sky; by launching high-speed trains, cruise liners; by setting up crowded hotels, resorts, beaches; by opening museums and ancient cities for excursions. All these streams of idle people are the signs of a "civilization of idleness". Millions of people rush around the planet, leaving behind mountains of waste and do not find what they seem to have lost.

For them, hundreds of methods of manipulating human consciousness have been developed, which are used by everyone, because the Old System of controlling genotypes was introduced into the Brain — the optimal format for mass management is — manipulation. Therefore, in all countries, the media play a huge role (previously, their functions were performed by religion). Without it, you can only control people by force, but force — is the most inefficient way. Manipulation is the most effective. Most people do not think beyond the boundaries of the everyday scale, and therefore it makes no sense to explain the logic of a particular state decision. The heroes of most films and books — are advertising specialists, lawyers, writers and so-called "bloggers" — they are innumerable. Because of this (or more precisely, it is within the framework of the changes that have begun), the policy of the ruling regimes, HAVING LOST the MONOPOLY on manipulating the unstable consciousness of a person, are trying to regain it. To return it by any means, believing that this is how they will be able to maintain their power management of people. Therefore, the architects of the new version of the world order decided to replace the verbal-figurative methods of controlling consciousness with its direct control by electronic methods, relying on "digital civilization" and "artificial intelligence".

Artificial intelligence in their understanding will presumably duplicate a person not only in work, but also in everyday life, forcing him to subconsciously act contrary to needs, motivation, evidence, etc. Among many projects of this kind is the Concept of "Smart City — 2030", which "defines the priorities, goals and objectives of public administration and development in the field of digital technologies in Moscow until 2030". It uses, oddly enough, THE IDEAS OF FUTURISTS AND SCIENCE FICTION WRITERS Ray Kurzweil (Ray Kurzweil) — Google; Ian Pearson (Ian Pearson) and Nicola Millard — Nicola Millard) — British Telecom; Brian David Johnson (Brian David Johnson) — Intel; Dave Evans (Dave Evans) — CISCO; Dave Coplin (Dave Coplin) — Microsoft. But among the developers of the Concept, it is no coincidence that there is not a single psychologist, philosopher, historian — specialists in "humanity" — IT specialists "stole" their consciousness. Is there a question that Globalization COULD NOT answer, or the answer was unacceptable: what will happen to the person? Obviously, the system needs to change. We must develop the ability to live in a digital world and not lose our humanity. But in reality, we have to overcome this imposed digital world and "artificial intelligence" just because it is artificial. In the table below, compiled by Professor A. I. Yuryev, you can see what "loss of humanity" means.

The New Political reality — dismantling of Globalization
(A. I. Yuryev-2018)

The new political reality	Digital civilization — a single system of management of any activity, labor, activity and work of everyone and everything	Digital culture — a unified system for managing information about what was, what is now, and what will be
----------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Science — a unified technical framework for digital control and behavior management in all forms	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The unexpected — innovations are not at all what they were expected to be (a total stoppage of production, education, movement of people, goods; then — information and money. Mass unemployment). • The consciousness of the subject: knowledge about its role and place in the social process is devalued. • The will to live is modified by the introduction of total external control and control over any activity, work, labor, action. • Practical Intelligence (PQ) (excludes the ability to find your work environment using your experience and knowledge). • The subject, being deprived of the opportunity for self-regulation, turns into a service person (controlled). 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unusual — there are no ready-made "good" answers for innovations (total information management in personal communication, in print, electronic, and television media). • Consciousness of individuality: the understanding of the goals of behavior and development plans disappears. • The purpose of life is modified by the method of distorting the picture of the world in the systems of education, science, culture, mass media, TV, and IT. • Academic intelligence (IQ) (No access to understanding higher, abstract-logical operations). • The individual, deprived of the opportunity for self-education, turns from a creator to a consumer of competencies.
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Religion — the fight against the introduction of a system of digital dogmatism instead of religious dogmas

- Suddenness — innovations occur exactly when they were not expected (policy in peacetime is carried out by the method of wartime: passes, prohibition of going out on the street, patrols, checkpoints, video monitoring of people and cars).
- Individual consciousness — the individual loses the connection with his mentality, i.e. with the "eternal truths of being" — dogmas about the meaning of human existence.
- The meaning of life is modified by the reduction of contacts based on love, and the increase in the mass of contacts based on threats and punishments.
- Emotional Intelligence (EQ). You lose the ability to understand the meaning of your emotions and the ability to use them in relationships with other people.
- An individual who loses the need for self-regulation is ready to turn into a cyborg.

- Inadmissibility - innovation in politics seems unnatural (the policy is not justified legally, neither logically, nor by common sense, and looks illegal: parties, the State Duma are removed from the process).
- Individual consciousness — the individual loses touch with reality and the ability to act intelligently.
- The values of life are modified by their weakening to reduce the resistance of the Individual to radical changes.
- Social Intelligence (SQ). The ability to understand people's behavior and the ability to interact with them personally disappears.
- A person who loses self-government turns into a mass network person.

The table shows what "man and humanity" will look like if instead of the "unreliable consciousness" of a person, the model of "artificial intelligence" is chosen — a) a cyborg person; b) a "service person"; c) a "network person"; d) a "person-carrier of competencies". The rapid adoption of such a replacement is driven by the crisis in world politics: it is rejected by demonstrators around the world as a "bad story"; it is NOT RECOGNIZED as fair by many peoples on the planet; it has forced "decision makers" to close borders. The battle between the powerful elites began. The fight, which is the beginning of their elimination as a "governing class" within the framework of the executive processes of the New Management System. Against this background, the failures of the "Democratic Project" are the result of the fact that it has turned into a new political religion, another modification of positivism, which is aimed at "cleaning" the political mentality from the psychological formula of a person (his Brain) — the centuries-old fundamental basis of the world order. This becomes a "fatal mistake" in the creation of today's world order, a method of destroying the old one, which is discovered by more and more people who think, but DO NOT FULLY understand the global nature of the transformation processes within the New Management System.

We only discover new things when we are ready to absorb them. Until the right moment comes, we DO NOT even NOTICE things that seem obvious to most people. "Humanity," which today is still being worked out, if I may say so, within our understanding, is strictly speaking the independent moral, ethical, aesthetic behavior of people relying on: 1. self-control (of the individual); 2. self-regulation (of the subject); 3. self-management (of the individual); 4. self-education (of the individual). These functions are provided "from within," by his mentality, without the coercion of any external force, expressed by the present-day automotor actions of the so-called "rulers." It is "humanity" that maintains socio-economic stability on the planet to this day. The "internal management" functions of the "rulers" (created to "rule" the genotypes of the Brain discussed) are now practically "disabled". This is the reason for the "error" they are now seeking and trying to overcome with "artificial intelligence" within their auto-motor mindset without the support of the Old System of Control and their virtually "disabled" mentality. Few of them, and especially this applies to those "created 20 years ago" the so-called elite within the Golden Million, understand that the social model remains stable and sustainable if there is a global idea that covers all layers of society from top to bottom. Such an idea arises ONLY FROM A WORLDVIEW created within a specific mentality (the genotype of the Brain). If the worldview disappears, the society is left with an old idea left over from a past worldview. The elite are forced to use the old one; there is no other for it. Only now there is no ideological justification for such use. Ideological manipulation and violence are replaced by commercial manipulation and violence. Deception and violence for the sake of money have always been there, but they could never form the foundation of the social construction. The quality is not the same. The constant broadcasting of false information to the masses has a number of extremely unpleasant consequences. First, the cynicism of the elite, who look at the mass as a colonizer on the natives, is growing exponentially. But the very carriers of such cynicism quickly decompose. Secondly, cynical manipulation lowers the intellectual level of the mass below the natural level. It will focus on solving current problems of a domestic and technical nature.

She will not be able to physically see anything beyond everyday life. People today see the inequality that annoys them and SEE NO explanation for it. This gives rise to hatred of the ruling classes only because they are representatives of the authorities (now this effect has been observed in the Russian Federation since 2019, when everyone considers it their duty to kick the government, and the word "official" has acquired an abusive meaning). But society, immersed in an ideological vacuum, inevitably rots at the same time from the head and tail. The elite do not look at the masses as a people "whom God has given them to manage", but as livestock. The mass sees in the representatives of power and capital something hostile to itself. Absolute distrust, the suspicion of a hidden deception in every word and deed. If each individual considers the collective organism as something alien to him, then it is quite obvious that this organism actually NO LONGER EXISTS, but becomes a kind of ghostly product of the intellect, a kind of fetish.

In the questions of our current knowledge, it is interesting that the knowledge and understanding of at least one particular psychological category — mentality, answers the questions not only, for example, of the entire historical and psychological science, but also of global politics — indicating the main and fundamental error in the world order. They do not cause the slightest doubt, so high is the reliability and completeness of the materials discussed, presented by the above-mentioned authors and methods of their analysis. All this completely excluded the loss of any part of the information about the mentality or specific genotype of the Brain. But the main thing is that a theoretical and methodological basis is being created for a new METHOD of UNDERSTANDING EVENTS in Russian and world history from a completely unexpected side for those who seek to understand and know. At a minimum, this makes it more understandable what is happening in the behavior (political, psychological, and every day) of people in times of a new reality surrounding us.

The realization and understanding of what is described in the series of "articles 369" should be treated not from the standpoint of the orthodox materialistic worldview, but from the standpoint of the already accomplished transition to the stage of knowledge of the truth — materialistic idealism. The methodology and research method used for the first time by the Russian scientists mentioned in this article, based on the energy-informational dialectic of the gradual development of Brain genotypes (mentality) and the improvement of management with the use of Complexes, supporting and accompanying Systems and Objects in the program management from the outside, allowed us to show in a FUNDAMENTALLY DIFFERENT way the objective need to revise the semantic and target hierarchy of all historical processes of human civilization development.

The logic of cognition (research) of the mentality (the Brain genotype as such) has led to the need to study a set of explanations of its nature, as a system that includes faith — the primary source of the content of the mentality (religion); dogmatics — the persistence of the functions of the mentality (philosophy); actually, the mentality-structuring human consciousness (a complex phenomenon); consciousness-synthesizing human behavior from the dogmas of the mentality and information from the "terrible spaces of the Universe" that cover a person (operational psychology); the struggle between liberalism and conservatism — the "human" constructions of the world order of both forces came into a fundamental contradiction (politics). Objective gaps in this system, caused by the cancellation of Old programs and the "shutdown" of specific Brain genotypes (their mentality), are the so-called reason for the recent geopolitical failures, which are perceived by most as the essence of what is happening. But the most terrible thing for the current state of awareness is the material use of people outside of their will and awareness of the very fact of their program USE IN the PAST as such. In such a process of irresistible violence against people, the programs and plans of external management were focused on their specific targets associated with achieving a certain controlled level of development of a specific mentality (brain genotypes) for a limited contingent of individuals. In accordance with this, a multi-stage plan for the energy biogenesis of the human body was implemented with a focus on the development and giving it such complex features and states that should be harmonious and acceptable for such a Brain genotype and correspond to their further specific plans for the external management of the old System. That was the true essence of the whole story.

This information and that which will be given in the following articles of the "series 369" is NOT INTENDED for intellectual entertainment: it will require the reader's intellectual work, at least primary (and for a deeper — thorough) knowledge of psychology, history, philosophy, religion, biology, and politics. This is justified by the fact that inaccuracies, superficiality, and understatement in this information, as the basis of New knowledge, are excluded. Therefore, it is necessary to immediately tune in to dive into the depths of understanding very mysterious theories and methodologies, at first glance, but the reader can determine for himself whether there is even a theory that is relevant to the reality under study, and if so, which one. He must decide which aspects of this theory he will choose to explore today. This is the basis with which to go into the knowledge of what is happening today and a serious push in the search for an answer to the question that has been asked for more than one generation, even within the framework of the management of the Old System — what is the meaning of life, except how to cover the Whole itself — everything that exists, plus what is NOT DEFINED by what exists, but at the same time is, is present, is (to say that there is beyond the boundary of existence). A smaller scope will not allow us to deduce the meaning of life, the concepts of good and evil, norms, taboos and values.

The only chance to break out in understanding is TO GRASP THE ESSENCE of the surrounding reality and draw a conclusion from it, which will be the goal and meaning of life. But in what direction do we go to get out into the light — many, even those who still decided to embark on the path of knowledge, do not understand.

Ordinary thinking leads to a dead end. You need to look for a way out of this routine. Many people, and even those with whom I communicate quite often, vaguely see the course that should be followed, and it seems too crazy to them. But when you finally come to a dead end in your thoughts, believe me, it was so with me, and with Levashov, and with Khatybov, and with the others I mention here — you will have a choice: either to abandon your view of the world, or to become insane... In practice, the latter means thinking without adjusting for the desire to look normal in the eyes of the "respectable public". It's not such a big price to pay to be crazy in the eyes of idle townfolk, for the opportunity to FIND the MEANING of LIFE. By doing this, you will be reactivating the absurd trend of getting ready to become crazy for everyone and start thinking without any restrictions. For me, this finally happened after the death of Nikolai Levashov in June 2012 — the quantity turned into quality. I will not say now that everything is absolutely clear to me. Not all of it. But I broke the deadlock and made my own view of the world in extremely large strokes. My worldview still needs to be clarified today, but it is enough to deduce from it the GENERAL DIRECTION of LIFE, as well as the fundamental concepts in the ongoing processes of today, good and evil, norms and taboos, the scale of values, and so on. But since my understanding of reality implies a goal that cannot be achieved alone, I am constantly looking for associates and supporters. In order for people to become supporters, they must understand the information I give in my articles and books and share the purpose and values that follow from it, having become familiar with my view of the surrounding reality. So, the GOAL — OMNIPOTENCE — is not the absolute possibilities within the boundaries of our world, but the possibilities limited only by your imagination. For most, this is crazy, but most will not be able to clearly explain why. The main argument: uncharacteristic/unusual. But this is not an argument. If a person can fantasize about something, this in itself means that he can realize it. What we can't realize, we can't fantasize about. This is confirmed by the creation of Programs within the framework of the "SvetL" Project, expressed in all its current forms of human use. It doesn't matter that I'm not sure yet that I know how to achieve this goal. My ignorance doesn't change anything today. You still need to look for a solution. Paradoxical, but true.

Summing up: the goal is — omnipotence. The way to get it is — to go beyond the boundaries of observable reality to the program that shapes and organizes our world. The key is to bring together a critical mass of awakened people. It remains to understand how to — gather such people. It is impossible to attract them with material values. The only thing they will go for is — a goal that draws on the meaning of life. For a mortal person, such a goal, as I wrote in a previous article, is — TO OVERCOME DEATH. Everything else is secondary, if only because everything else needs to be available. Even if you are ready to die for the happiness of the people, to achieve it, you need to be alive. Everything exists only for the existing. For the nonexistent, nothing exists. I, as well as you, the — reader, can make hypotheses on the topic of what death is, but I do not — know what it is. Because I've never died before. But I think the gate to that side is open.

I DO NOT know the depth of the programs that are being implemented today by the new Management System within the framework of human development and life support, but I know that these processes should lead us all to the situation of human life and development in the period before the alien Ebras took over the earth, and therefore I can assume that overcoming death is provided for by it. Then without(s)death is achieved within the framework of our world. But it is possible that the program prohibits such a result. Then the solution is outside the world. However, it is encouraging that even today I can say that after — some time, having solved certain tasks that stand today, relying on the calculations of A. Khatybov, A. Luchin, and on information from N. Levashov, and on the knowledge of the "Foundations of the Formation of Humanity", the so-called "human life path" can be extended to 132—136 years. The refinement and modernization of Technologies and the generation process within the THE PLAN TO BE IMPLEMENTED and go beyond the boundaries of today's observable reality. This will be one of the first steps in solving the Main Task — overcoming death. Why is this particular direction chosen? Because it will add a physical opportunity in the time factor of today's existence to extend the purposeful work of specific people in achieving the goal. But in parallel, another question will arise — who should be "given" such an opportunity? Probably those who will be able to prove their usefulness in solving this main task.

The scale of the task is enormous. The visible world in which we live is only a small prison cell suspended between two chasms — finiteness and nothingness. To solve such a large-scale task, we will also have to build the construction of many theories, relying of course on the information that we already know from where to take and apply, using key concepts of the highest complexity: consciousness, mentality (Brain genotype), faith, subjectivity, dogmatics, religion, politics and, of course, a constructive theory of everything within the framework of the "Foundations of the Formation of Humanity". There is no doubt that these phenomena are connected in a single system and cannot perform their functions separately from others. Together, they plunge into the limitlessness of the phenomena, facts, and events surrounding a person, and in a striking way find in it exactly what is necessary for a person to live and continue his kind. That's how we'll go. And I invite all those who accept the declared goal to follow this path with me. Go boldly, confidently, BUT — CONSCIOUSLY.

In my opinion, the only chance to evade the slowly chewing and grinding automotor jaws of the system is to grasp the essence of the surrounding reality and draw a conclusion from it, which will be the purpose and meaning of life. We will talk about the awareness of this and about Consciousness as such in the framework of the concept of mentality and its transformation in the following articles.

¹ The word "mentality" comes from the Latin "mens": spirit, mind. That is, mentality — is the spirit, the mindset of a certain group of people. The mentality — is her worldview. The concept of mentality includes views, assessments, values, norms of behavior and morality, attitudes, religious affiliation, and many other nuances that characterize a particular group of people. The term originated in historical science, but is now often used in psychology and sociology.

² "Mismanagement" - the term was introduced by D. I. Mendeleev.
