

Who Was born on Christmas Day. Or a Holiday with dual insertion.

*There is Kolyada in us. Rus is alive in us.
We don't need someone else's feast.
We don't come from Christmas,
And we are from the Creation of the World.*

Leonid Kornilov

The only birthday that 33% of the world's population celebrate, and almost everyone knows, is of course 25 December. The Nativity of Christ. However, no one has ever seen a birth certificate with this interesting date. The year of birth of the one who for centuries has been worshipped by the world's largest denomination, is not recorded anywhere. At the same time, without even trying to answer where did this date come from?

In the holy book of all Christians, not a single date is given for the events described. Although, it would seem, the calendar chronology quite existed in ancient civilization, among the Egyptian pharaohs, the Aztecs and the Maya, not to mention the Slavic roundabout of Chislobog.

If the authors of the Gospel, the holy Apostles, could read and write, then they must have known the calendar and recorded the dates of birth and death of their god. However, they are not there.

The gospel of Matthew first lists the ancestors of Mary's husband, Joseph. And all this is given out as the genealogy of Jesus. However, in the same gospel it is written that Mary was already pregnant when she married Joseph: "... before they were married, it turned out that She was pregnant with the Holy Spirit ..." (Matt. 1.18).

In the gospels of Mark and John, the son of God, already an adult, himself came to be baptized by John...

Another interpretation has already been given in the gospel of Luke. The angel informs Mary: "... And behold, you will conceive in your womb, and you will bear a Son, and you will call his name Jesus..." (Luke 1:31). Further:

"... In those days an order came out from Caesar Augustus to make a census of the whole earth ... 3 And they all went to register, each to his own city.

4 Joseph also went from Galilee, from the city of Nazareth, to Judea, to the city of David, called Bethlehem, because he was from the house and family of David, 5 To register with Mary, his betrothed wife, who was pregnant. 6 And when they were there, the time came for her to give birth; 7 And she bore her firstborn Son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn..." (Luke 2:1:9).

This is actually all that is contained in the four canonical books of the New Testament. There is very little written about this great event, the birth of the Son of God. There is not a single date, real name, or place name. There is a strong sense that the Bible was not written to tell a story, but to hide something!

The day, 25 December, as the day of the "birth of Christ in Bethlehem of Judea", is first mentioned by the Roman Chronograph (manuscript of 354), based on a calendar dating back to 336. On the same day, a Roman civil holiday was celebrated there with thirty chariot races in honor of the birthday of the invincible Sun.

Theologians cast an official explanation in granite, 25 December marks exactly 9 months since the immaculate conception on 25 March. Not a day less, not a day more.

(Remember)However, the exact date of the feast of the Annunciation is also not recorded anywhere in the Bible. And it is usually determined by a rollback of 9 months from the date of Christmas! But the main question has a logical and verifiable answer, and all subsequent questions are no longer so interesting and important. Not Zeno's aporia, but the most important thing is not to run into both questions at the same time.

One of the trickiest questions is why the Gospel is written in Greek, and there are no Aramaic originals?

It is believed that in ancient times imperial Aramaic served as the international language for much of the Middle East. It is also believed that "Aramean" in ancient times was a group of Western Semitic tribes who roamed in the Syrian province of the Roman Empire.

But the functions of the official languages in the Roman Empire were performed in Latin and ancient Greek. However, there is not a single nation for which Latin would be the native language. Latin is a cryptographic language of professional concealment, from ordinary people, of information on religion and science. So, the Roman Empire spoke Greek.

For most Greeks, it is no secret that no one in Russia talks about Greek as the imperial language of international communication in evangelical times. Being called the Romaic language, in which the Gospels were written. Therefore, further in the article, any mention of Rome, the Roman Empire, the Romans, Byzantium and the Byzantines will be replaced by Rum, Romeans, the Romaic Empire and the language.

Why 25 December?

It is believed that Peter the Great, who was replaced after traveling through Europe, for some reason called the Great Embassy, brought to Russia the custom of decorating a green Christmas tree and celebrating the New Year, issuing a corresponding decree on 20 December, 1699. However, the decree referred only to the decoration of large thoroughfares with spruce branches on New Year's Eve on 1 January.

Modern researcher E.V. Dushechkina in her fundamental work "The Russian Christmas Tree: History, Mythology, Literature" noticed one amusing consequence of Peter's innovations.

For some reason, Christmas trees have been preserved in the decor of drinking establishments. The owners of pubs and inns continued to decorate courtyards and premises with them on the eve of the New Year. The tree was tied to a stake, fixed on roofs, stuck at the gates.

Such a tree was not necessarily a spruce, there were also pine trees. In the literature, when describing pubs and inns, these details are constantly found – in the decoration of institutions, the authors notice a coniferous tree.

And this is not surprising. A little-known historical fact, the "The Most Humorous, The Most Drunken and Extravagant Cathedral" established by Peter I, existed for 30 years, contributing to the perception of the tsar, by segments of society, as the Antichrist. To monopolize the imperial power, Peter used the imposition of drunkenness and extravagance in opposition to religion and cultural traditions of society. Similar inventions were copied by him from enlightened Europe. In today's realities, this is called the "culture of abolition", at that time the historical process of the removal of the church elite from power was called the "Reformation". But in fact, the program stages of the development of the brain of a social parasite were simply replaced.

Another interesting mystery of the Christmas holiday is its main character, of course not the birthday boy, but a certain bearded elf in full bloom, originally from the North Pole, who is stubbornly identified with St. Nicholas, who lived in hot Turkey several hundred years after Christ. And why does the revered saint wonderworker now fly on reindeer and climb into houses through the chimney?

As it turned out, the first Christmas tale about Santa Claus was written in 1822 by Clement Clarke Moore, a teacher at Columbia University. Santa Claus, as we know him today, was drawn in 1863 by the illustrator of Harper's Weekly magazine, Thomas Nast. And in 1897, the American diplomat, clergyman, and professor at Princeton University, Henry Van Dyke Jr. composed the legend "The First Christmas Tree". The legend told of St. Boniface, a Christian missionary who cut down the Donar (Thor) Oak, sacred to the Germanic pagans. As it fell, the huge, centuries-old oak hit and felled other trees, but the spruce remained in place. Boniface said: "Let this tree be, the tree of Christ!"

Many ethnic interpretations included a variety of snow maidens. For example, the British Mrs. Claus, or in the Scandinavian-German traditions (Marta, Gretchen, Helga).

The Christmas tree as a "Christmas tree" appeared at the beginning of the XIX century in the homes of St. Petersburg Germans.

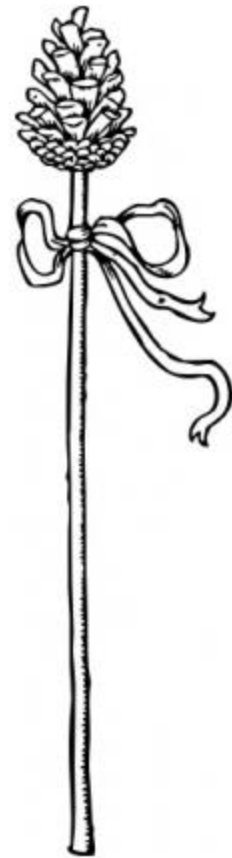

Until the early 1840s, the custom of putting up a Christmas tree did not exist in Russia; palace Christmas trees were an exception. Neither Alexander Pushkin nor Mikhail Lermontov had ever seen a Christmas tree in their lives: the nobility around them supported only Russian Yuletide traditions: Yuletide masquerades and balls. It was not until the early 1840s that one wrote about a great novelty: "lovely German Christmas trees decorated with sweets, lanterns and garlands" were sold in confectioners' shops. In the mid-forties there were already some astonished mentions that "in Russian homes the German custom is adopted... to decorate... the tree as best as possible, with flowers and ribbons, and hanging gilded nuts on the branches.

It looks like a Special Christmas Operation in hindsight, and it turns out that Christmas, Santa Claus, and the New Year Tree came to our homes, by historical standards, literally yesterday. But what happened before?

The ancient Romans celebrated the Saturnalia Festival from 17 to 23 December. The sanctuaries of Saturn were everywhere; the name of God was found in many place names; the country of Italy, according to legend, was called in ancient times the Saturn's Land (Latin Saturnia tellus).

Saturn was a clone of Kronos, also known as Chronos. However, this character was only a clone of the Carthaginian and Syrian cult of Baal. Baal-Hammon was depicted as a mighty elder with a staff in his hand, the tip of which was a pine cone - symbols of immortality and male fertility. The staff could represent the spine of the pine cone - the pineal gland or the Third Eye. Pine cones were also used as a symbol of eternal life. Assyrian drawings depict godlike figures holding pine cones in their hands. In ancient Assyria there is a palace painting depicting winged gods carrying pine nuts. Pine pollen is sprinkled on the Tree of Life.

All of these characters had their own cults of child sacrifices, all commanded time, and were considered Rulers.

The temple dedicated to the supreme god Baal is part of the complex of ruins of the ancient Syrian city of Palmyra. On 5 May, 2016, the Mariinsky Theater Orchestra, conducted by Valery Gergiev, gave a concert in the amphitheater of this temple complex – "With a Prayer for Palmyra". On 4 December, 2017, Russian President Vladimir Putin called Syria "the cradle of Christianity in general and the origins of the Orthodox faith."

The Slavs celebrated Karachunovo time in the middle of winter. They believed that Karachun was the hypostasis of Chernobog, a harsh winter deity, shortens the daytime, brings winter cold to the earth, plunging nature into winter sleep. In Karachunovo time, according to ancestral beliefs, on the evening of 21 December, the entire Universe dies within 3 days to be reborn on 25 December - with New Strength and Energy, a new cycle of Rotation unfolds.

Pre-Christian Germans and Scandinavians celebrated the longest night of the year called "yule", waiting for the rebirth of the Oak King, the Sun King, the Giver of Life, who warmed the frozen earth and awakened life in the seeds stored in its bosom all the long winter. The Finnish Santa Claus, Joulupukki (translated as "Christmas goat") takes its name from the word yule (Jul/Jøl). Back in the XIX century, he was depicted in a goat skin and sometimes even with small horns.

This is the pedigree of the main character of the Nativity of Christ.

In pre-Petrine times, there was no New Year, the Slavs however, celebrated the New Year. The concept of New Year, God, came from Holland. The meaning of the New Year is the New God. However, the old New God was a pagan god. So, in English there is still a reference to the New God of the Sun. New Year, which in the Russian transcription sounds like New Yar, that is, the sun. That's how the circle of charomancy closes, you give the sun, you get God. New GOD = New YAR.

On 25 December, the Slavic peoples welcomed the infant Kolyada. Another name for this day according to the Slavic-Aryan calendar is the Day of Changes! The sign of Kolyada was a burning wheel with four crossbars – the sign of the sun, yaro kolo. Kolyada was also revered as a god who gave people a new calendar – Kolyada Gift, and before that they used the Chislobog's round-the-clock. The holiday of Kolyada, in contrast to Kupala, marks a seasonal turn, the arrival of light, the death of the old, the arrival of the strong young.

С КОЛЯДОЙ! С Новым Солнцем!

WITH KOLYADA! With the New Sun!

The Romans held a festival of the Sun on 25 December, also called Dies Natalis Solis Invicti ("birthday of the invincible sun"). The Invincible Sun (lat. Sol Invictus) is the official Romaic sun god of the solar cult created by Emperor Aurelian in 274 AD. Aurelian also started wearing a crown with outgoing sun rays. He founded the college of pontiffs and dedicated a temple to the Invincible Sun.

For the first time, the idea that the Nativity of Christ dates back to the pagan holiday Natalis Solis Invicti on 25 December was put forward by the German theologian Paul-Ernst Jablonsky (1693-1757). This hypothesis was most seriously argued by the philologist Hermann Usener in the work Das Weihnachtsfest ("Christmas", 1889). In his opinion, Natalis Solis Invicti was just one of a number of pagan holidays that many Christians continued to celebrate in the IV century.

From the historical chronicles came information about a certain Roman emperor under the name Heliogabalus, deposed on 11 March, 222, because of dissatisfaction with his religious reforms. The future emperor arrived in Rome in the status of the high priest of the sun god from the vicinity of Syrian Homs. The meaning of the reform was to create a solar cult by combining all existing deities and religions, under the guise of a dual sun god - the Syrian Elagabal and the Roman Invincible Sun. There are legends that the ancestors of the Carthaginians already tried to cross the reaper god Baal with the Solar Cult, but the Romans came and destroyed the city of sin.

The high priest Elagabalus fell into a dancing trance to perform rituals, in Latin he was called Saltator, which is only one letter different from the word Savior, in Latin Salvator.

The development of the social system inevitably leads to cycles of unification of religious super-organisms. Ecumenism is a historically recurring pattern of the development of religions, 25 December is the birthday of the ecumenical product, and Heliogabalus was the first ecumenist. Having subtly felt the parallels of changing life support programs, Viktor Pelevin wrote an artistic interpretation of these events in the novel of the same name. However, the literary obscenity of the book requires the censorship of the reader's maturity.

Alexey Tolstoy, in the book Peter I, repeatedly mentions a certain Bacchus in the role of the supreme deity, Peter's all-drunken cathedral.

Photo of the amulet from the book "Jesus Christ - a Pagan God" (The Jesus Mysteries: Was the "Original Jesus" a Pagan God?), dating from the 3rd century BC. It depicts a crucified man, whom most people would immediately identify as Jesus Christ. However, the Greek inscription testifies that before us is "Orpheus-Bacchus". A sufficient number of books with this name were published to conceal the first and only one in which the true genealogy of Christ was revealed. Similarly, in the 1950s, François Saunière's true documents on the Templars were concealed. If it is impossible to destroy, then with the help of unlimited finances, you can fill up with similar forgeries.

According to the authors of the book, Christianity originated as a Judaized version of pagan beliefs. Hellenized Jews wrote a version of the myth of God-man, including Jewish elements in it. Jesus was invented on the basis of the pagan cult of the dying and resurrecting "god", known as Osiris-Dionysus.

Osiris is the king of the afterlife in ancient Egyptian mythology and the judge of the souls of the deceased. According to Nikolai Levashov's information, from the book "Russia in Curved Mirrors Part 1", Osiris was an African god of the black race. And his cult, the moon cult. It is not surprising that God was depicted as a mummy with a face Evergreen in color and in white clothes. The Egyptian staff of Osiris, dating from about 1224 BC, depicts two intertwining snakes rising up to meet at a pine cone. The staff of Dionysus, Thyrsus, was also crowned with a cone.

In modern heraldry, this rod is called a caduceus, and is widely used in medical and religious symbols. By the way, the papal tiara and mitre of a Christian clergyman also go back to the image of a cone, and the elongated headdress of Osiris.

Levashov wrote: "The cult of Osiris had different names in different countries, but its essence remained the same — the philosophy of slavery, both spiritual and physical, which made a person feel worthless, become worthless, in order, perhaps, to be saved in eternal life after death. The cult of Osiris, built on the basis of the Lunar cult, the cult of death and the black magic of African black magicians, like a chameleon, changed its faces, but did not change its essence, turned people into blind tools in the hands of puppeteers."

Perhaps that book was inspired by the American director Peter Joseph, popularizing the idea in the 2007 film, "Zeit Geist" (Zeit Geist). It turns out that in the history of mankind, the Biblical Jesus has many religious characters who clone gospel biographies and miracles:

1. Horus, Egypt, 3000 BC
2. Attis, Phrygia, 1200 BC
3. Mitra, Persia, 1200 BC

4. Krishna, India, 900 B.C.

5. Dionysus, Greece, 500 BC

All of the above were born on 25 December from the virgin, had 12 followers, performed the same miracles, were all gods, betrayed by their friends, and resurrected after death. Any reader who understands the meaning of mathematical statistics knows that the probability of such a coincidence tends to zero.

In different countries and empires, the cult of Osiris could have different names, but its essence did not change. Only the name and the name of the son of God, who died for the sins of all mankind and promised a life in paradise to his followers after death, changed. Several millennia of using the cult of Osiris as a psychological weapon have shown its effectiveness in slave-owning states.

However, for a small number of lucky people back in Soviet times, the works of the honorary academician of the USSR Academy of Sciences, N.A. Morozov, were available, in particular, the eight-volume work "Christ" written in the twenties of the last century, where, based on a multifactorial scientific analysis, the author leads the reader to the conclusion that the entire history of Mankind is falsified, and religion, as the basic part of this falsification.

Russian scientist N.Morozov ("Christ"), using:

- a). Astronomical method.
- b). Geophysical method.
- c). Material and cultural method.
- d). Ethnopsychological method.
- e). Statistical method.
- f). Linguistic method.

For the study of history, I concluded:

"It has been proven that humanity does not exist - it has no history." At least there is no history before our era. And the late history is apocryphal, so much so that it can be perceived as a fairy tale.

Nikolai Morozov suggested that the religious reformer Pharaoh Akhenaten and the biblical Jesus are one and the same historical character. In the spring of 2002, a team of historical scientists from the British Science Museum unexpectedly found a previously unknown document. It contained a prayer in the Egyptian language, which almost verbatim repeated the most famous Christian prayer — "Our Father".

In computational mathematics, there is such a tool as cluster analysis, which is able to identify duplicate objects. Even before the advent of super-powered computers, another academician of the USSR Academy of Sciences, A.T. Fomenko, a talented mathematician, also took up history. An analysis of the events of the past of world civilization allowed him to discover a curious phenomenon — the so-called chronological shift! He found that funny moments are observed in modern "history": the same event, somewhat played out with a change of names and a little plot, repeats many times on a chronological scale! Certainly, an important and very unexpected discovery for many. Only then did Mr. Fomenko and Co. begin to find "oddities". Having found evidence of falsification in modern history, Fomenko makes an unexpected conclusion. In his recent works, he began to assert that the ENTIRE HISTORY OF MANKIND IS ONLY A THOUSAND YEARS! A strange and unjustified conclusion! All the more strange because the real history of mankind has HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF YEARS! And there are a lot of the most material evidence for this! But ... in a strange way, Academician Fomenko "does not notice" these real proofs and ... makes such an absurd conclusion! And in this regard, a quite natural question arises — did the academician himself "make a mistake" or was he "advised" to make a mistake!?

Science in pagan celebrations.

The concept of a dying and resurrecting god was first proposed in comparative mythology by James Fraser in his fundamental work The Golden Bough (1890). A Scottish social anthropologist (Date of birth 1 January, 1854), associated this motif with fertility rituals associated with the annual cycle of vegetation.

Fraser gave examples of Osiris, Tammuz, Adonis and Attis, Zagreus, Dionysus and Jesus.

The basis of folk pagan traditions is based on the solar nature, or rather the astronomical cyclicity of the sun. The labor activity of farmers forced them to harmonize their life activity with the luminary. Therefore, it was inevitable to create a solar calendar, a wheel of the year, with specific recurring phases — solstices and equinoxes. The cross in the circle is the oldest symbol of the agricultural solar calendar. Two equinox dates when the duration of the day and night are equal, and one solstice date with the longest night or the longest day. The numerological code 211 carries the meaning of the swastika wheel of the year.

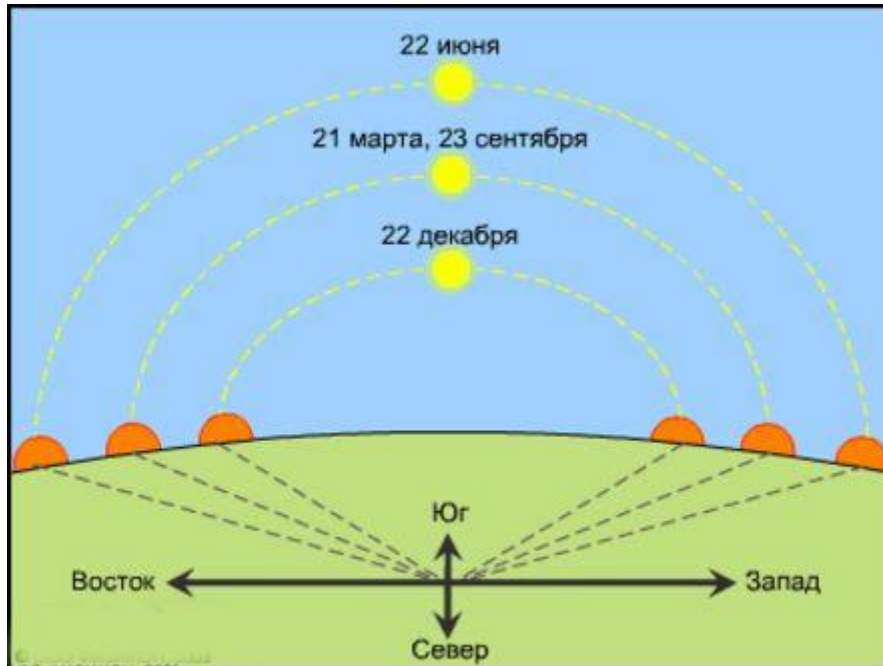

Top Clockwise:

Equinox 20 March – Winter Solstice 21-22 December - Equinox 22-23 September – Summer Solstice 20-21 June

Counter Clockwise:

Весна/Spring → Лето/Summer → Осень/Autumn → Зима/Winter

On the day of the winter solstice, the luminary lingers for three days at the zenith point at the minimum distance from the horizon line. And vice versa, on the day of the summer solstice at the point of maximum height from the horizon.

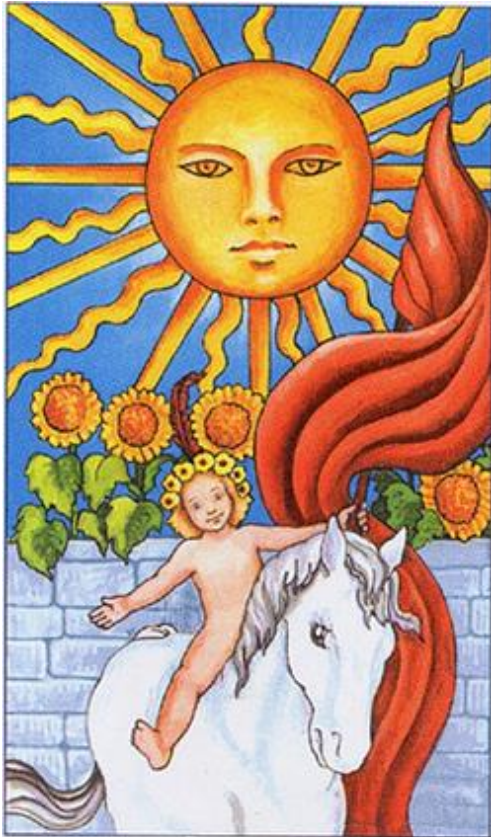

Юг/South - Запад/West - Север/North - Восток/East

The biblical story of the crucifixion of Christ has not only pagan, but also strictly scientific roots. 3 nights (between 22 and 25 December) the Southern Cross constellation becomes visible at night on the southern horizon. And on the 25th, just before sunrise, when the sun begins its reverse movement. That is why it is said that Christ (the Sun) rises on the cross and descends from it after three days. The rest of the year, the Southern Cross is not visible in daylight.

In Russia, Christmas is traditionally celebrated according to the old style (Julian calendar), since by a decree of the Council of People's Commissars of the RSFSR in 1918, the state was separated from the church and transferred to a new style of chronology (Gregorian calendar). The Julian calendar (the year begins on 1 January), by decree of Julius Caesar, was introduced in the Roman Republic from 1 January, 45 BC. It was based on the astronomical culture of Hellenistic Egypt.

However, why does the Orthodox Church hold so tightly to the Egyptian pre-Christian calendar tradition?

Солнце

The key point when comparing calendars is to determine the date of Easter. In the terminology of A.M. Khatybov, the Earth's Management System, including the Moon, operates according to the Meton calendar. The Julian calendar gives a smaller error relative to the Meton when calculating Paschal, due to a better correlation with changes in the phases of the Moon. By the way, Meto of Athens, according to the official chronology, invented his astronomical cycle in 432 BC.

The reason why Lenin hastened to join civilized humanity was the accumulation of discrepancies with the solar cycles of the Gregorian calendar. Which was originally focused on binding to the solar cross, also known as the solar wheel. Thus, for the civil public, synchronization with the sun took place, while for church rituals, synchronization of the beat with the phases of the moon is more important. This partly explains that the Russian Church is known outside of Russia as orthodox, or similar to the Jewish movement of orthodox Hasidism. After all, it was brought by the Greek priests from Romea and planted by Patriarch Nikon to replace the Orthodoxy of Sergius of Radonezh. And its orthodoxy is strict observance of rituals according to the lunar cycles of the Meton calendar. Fairy tales about the introduction of the Russian dynasty can be safely ignored.

It is logical to assume that 1 January, 45 BC, 1 January, 1700 and 14 February, 1918, at the system level, were the synchronization of the public solar and system lunar calendars to launch new programs for the development of mankind.

An indirect confirmation can be the convolution of dates to the code 119, 19, 1119, with the exception of the last one, which obviously should have happened on 1.1.19.18, but due to the change of power and confusion, it was first delayed by the church in November, and then pushed to January, after the separation of the church from the state. Card number 19 of the senior arcana of the Tarot is called the sun. The solar corona gave the name to the social pandemic of the coronavirus, also known as COVID-19. Is it worth remembering that the Metonic cycle is 19 years? A suspicious game of synchronicity of numbers, are such random coincidences possible?

According to the works of A.M. Khatybov, the winter solstice is 22 December. This day coincides with the inclusion of all Complexes of the Earth. The vernal equinox is 22 March. This is the date when all the Complexes are turned off, and until 22 December, only automatic Complexes are working, which, according to the results of control, make corrections.

Jesus actually lived two thousand years ago, but not the same one!

Freemasons believe that on 23 June, 47 BC, Cleopatra gave birth to Caesarion, the son of Julius Caesar on. The local priesthood proclaimed that his true father was the god Ra. One of the translations of the name Jesus means the son of Isis. Isis, was the first lunar deity of the Egyptian pantheon, the black race, Cleopatra was considered an incarnation of Isis.

According to historians of Freemasonry, it is this character that is revered by Masons as the black Jesus Christ. There are legends about his escape and journey to India and Japan.

The Jews also had a prophet named Yeshua ha Nozri (Jesus of Nazareth). Mikhail Bulgakov did not invent the character of his immortal work himself. Apparently, he remembered the name of the hero of S. Chevkin's atheistic play "Yeshua Ganotsri. Impartial discovery of the truth", 1922. In the original source, this name is mentioned twice in the Talmud - Sanhedrin. 107b, Sanhedrin. 43a. Maestro Bulgakov, like all mankind, made a grave mistake, falling for the bait of the social parasites.

Yeshua was indeed a Jew and lived two thousand years ago. And his wife really was a Jewish woman, Mary, who had a sister, Martha, and a brother, Lazarus. Everything is exactly like in the canonical Gospel, written, by the way, in the Middle Ages, but that's another story. The rebel Yeshua somehow displeased the Sanhedrin and was executed for it. His fate served only as a tool, with the help of which the name, fate and deeds of a real Man, a Great Wanderer Carrying Love, were hidden for more than 900 years.

We are talking about Radomir, the son of the White Magus (White Hierarch of a high level) and the witch Mary, who was born in the 11th century AD and had nothing to do with the Jews. It was he who was sent to save the Jews from the Dark Forces that had enslaved them - the princes of the Pekelny World. He was the one they brutally executed in Constantinople on the feast of their Easter in 1086 AD. It was his life and struggle that the priests distorted and disguised with the biography of a little-known Jewish prophet. For the first time, Svetlana Levashova wrote about all this in a very interesting and truthful way in her wonderful book "Revelation".

Here is what she writes about the real Jewish prophet Yeshua:

"... You are absolutely right, Isidora. As I told you earlier, the "powerful ones of this world", who created a false history of mankind, "put" on the true life of Christ the alien life of the Jewish prophet Yeshua (Joshua), who lived one and a half thousand years ago (since the time of the story of the North). And not only himself, but also his family, his relatives and his friends and followers. After all, it was the wife of the prophet Yeshua, the Jewish Mary, who had a sister Martha and a brother Lazarus, his mother's sister Maria Jacobe, and others who had never been near Radomir and Magdalene. Just as there were no other "apostles" next to them - Paul, Matthew, Peter, Luke and others ...

It was the family of the prophet Yeshua who moved one and a half thousand years ago to Provence (which in those days was called Gaul (Transalpine Gaul)), to the Greek city of Massalia (now Marseille), since Massalia at that time was the "gateway" between Europe and Asia, and this was the easiest way for all the "persecuted" to avoid persecution and misfortune ...

the Jewish Mary was a kind, but narrow-minded woman, and married very early. And she was never called Magdalene... This name was "hung" on her, wanting to combine these two incompatible women into one. And to prove such a ridiculous legend, they invented a fake story about the city of Magdala, which did not exist during the life of the Jewish Mary in Galilee..."

The life story of Radomir.

Nikolai Levashov, having published in 2007 the first volume of his unique book "Russia in Curved Mirrors". In this book, he gave fundamental knowledge about who we are, how and why we came to this planet, what happened to us before and is happening now. He gave just the foundation around which it is now very easy to put the rest of the pieces of the historical mosaic of the life of our civilization. So far, only his books and the book of his wife Svetlana de Rogan-Levashova contain real information that has been hidden from all of us for many centuries.

The identity of the narrative of the Bible and the Vedas was first proved by Nikolai Levashov. The Slavic-Aryan Vedas, transmitted by Perun to the heads of Slavic tribes about 40 thousand years ago, confirm the biblical information, including the arrival of Radomir, in English Christians call him "Redeemer".

15 (79). And the Bright Gods will send to them

The Wise Wanderers, for they have neither Spirit nor Conscience.

And Strangers will listen to their Wise Word, and after listening, they will bring the life of Wanderers, as a sacrifice to their god...

*And they will create a Golden Tour,
as a symbol of his power,
and they will worship him,*

16 (80). And the Gods will send to them... A great Wanderer, bearing love, but the priests of the Golden Tour will make his death a martyr.

And after his death, they will declare him GOD... and create a new Faith built on lies, blood and oppression...

And they will declare all nations inferior and sinful, and they will call upon the face of their created God to repent and ask forgiveness for deeds committed and imperfect...

Slavic-Aryan Vedas. Book 1. Santia 5. Slokas 15-16.

The White Hierarch Radomir, who was later called Jesus Christ by the murderers, carried the light of knowledge and love, as well as many, many other bright personalities, information about whom is also withheld by the parasite helpers. Radomir had a brother - Radan, Radomir was married to the witch Mary Magdalene, they had two children, and his direct descendants are still alive!

The truth cannot be destroyed, it has broken through the fragments of the description of the real life of Radomir (Jesus Christ), taken from the 1st volume of Svetlana Levashova's book "Revelation".

*"... Do you mean to say that one of you knew Christ?!
But that was so long ago!..
Even you can't live that long!*

— Why is it a long time ago, Isidora? — the North was genuinely surprised. "That was only a few hundred years ago! And we live a lot longer, you know..."

— But what about the legend?!. After all, fifteen hundred years have passed since his death?!..

— That's why it is a "legend"... — Severus shrugged his shoulders, - After all, if it were the Truth, it would not need the custom-made "fantasies" of Paul, Matthew, Peter and the like?.. Despite the fact that these "holy" people have never even seen the living Christ! And he never taught them...

— Tell me, Isidora, has anyone on Earth read the records of Christ himself?.. He was an excellent Teacher, who also wrote wonderfully! And he left much more than the "Thinking Dark Ones" who created his fake story could even imagine...

"He's lived here since he was thirteen... And even then, he was writing the message of his life, knowing how much it would be uttered. He already knew his future then. And even then he was suffering. We taught him a lot... Suddenly remembering something pleasant, Severus smiled in a completely childish way... — The blinding-bright Power of Life has always burned in him, like the sun... And a wonderful inner Light. He amazed us with his boundless desire to KNOW! To know EVERYTHING we knew... I have never matured such a crazy thirst!.. Except, maybe, another one, the same obsessive...

His smile became surprisingly warm and bright.

- At that time, a girl lived here - Magdalene... Pure and gentle, like the morning light. And fabulously gifted! She was the strongest person I knew on Earth at that time, except for our best Magi and Christ. While still with us, she became the Witch of Jesus... and his only Great Love, and after that, his wife and friend, who shared with him every moment of his life while he lived on this Earth...

Well, while studying and growing up with us, he became a very strong Witch and a real Warrior! That's when his time came to say goodbye to us... The time has come to fulfill the Duty for which the Fathers called him to Earth. And he left us. And Magdalene left with him... Our monastery has become empty and cold without these amazing, now completely grown-up children. We really missed their happy smiles, their warm laughter... Their joy at the sight of each other, their irrepressible thirst for knowledge, the iron Strength of their Spirit, and the Light of their pure Souls... These children were like suns, without which our cold measured life faded. Matheora was sad and empty without them... We knew that they would never come back, and that now none of us would ever see them again..."

"Radomir was once named by his father and mother, and it was his real, generic name, which really reflected his true essence. This name had a double meaning - the Joy of the world (Rado - the world) and Bringing the Light of Knowledge to the world, the Light of Ra (Ra - do - the world). And the Thinking Dark Ones called him Jesus Christ when they completely changed the story of his life. And as you can see, it has firmly "taken root" to him for centuries. The Jews have always had many Jesuses. This is the most common and very common Jewish name. Although, oddly enough, it came to them from Greece... Well, Christ (Christos) is not a name at all, and it means in Greek - "messiah" or "enlightened"...

The only question is, if the Bible says that Christ is a Christian, then how can we explain these pagan Greek names that were given to him by the Thinking Dark Ones themselves?.. Isn't it interesting? And this is only the smallest of those many mistakes, Isidora, that a person does not want (or cannot! ..) see ... "

Pulsar Savior!

According to the mathematical calculations of Academician Fomenko, the entire history of mankind was shifted by 1053 years. The year 1053 A.D. was adopted as the zero year of the new era. In 1054 A.D., the famous supernova STARSN1054 flare up, described in the Gospels as the Star of Bethlehem, which marked the arrival of the Savior. In a later issue of the book "The King of the Slavs", the author adjusted the calculations of the date of the Star of Bethlehem to 25 December of another year. However, it is already known what this date is and who needs it. Professor Sall rechecked Fomenko's calculations and discovered a strange failure to take into account the change in the rate of the Earth's precession, which affected the correction of the originally correctly calculated date.

The crab Nebula in the constellation Taurus erupted on 4 July, 1054, as the brightest supernova in the last two thousand years and for a long time shining even during the day. The Star of Bethlehem was visible with the naked eye for 23 days, even in the daytime. The nebula was first recorded by John Bevis in 1731. It became the first astronomical object identified with the historical supernova explosion recorded by Chinese astronomers. The pulsar PSR B0531+21, which can be poetically called the Heart of the Savior, has been beating in the center of this nebula since that day and still is. The Earth and modern civilization have been under the directional influence of pulsating synchrotron radiation for a thousand years.

This date of the Savior's birth is confirmed by the date of his death calculated by scientists, based on the Bible's statement that he lived for 33 years. This did not happen at all 2000 years ago, but on 16 February, 1086 AD in the vicinity of Constantinople. Astronomical calculations show that the total solar eclipse indicated in the Gospel and the accompanying large earthquake occurred simultaneously at this place and at this time.

The untimely, but talented historical researcher Alexey Khrustalev broke into the video airwaves of social networks in 2012 with his incredible discovery that France is the cradle of Christianity. He managed to prove that the events described in the gospels took place on the territory of Gaul and Romea. He tracked the biblical place names and compared their biblical descriptions on the territory of modern France and Turkey.

And Professor Yaroslav Kesler, after reading the English version of the Bible, found a significant discrepancy with the Russian version. This allowed him to make a confident statement about the place of Jesus' execution, which took place in Constantinople, and not where today's Jerusalem is located. In his article "Where Christ was Crucified and when the Apostle Paul lived," he writes the following:

"... It is traditionally believed that the crucifixion of Christ took place on the hill of Golgotha in the same Jerusalem, which still exists at the same place. This is what the canonical Gospels tell us in all languages of the world.

Nevertheless, the Gospels themselves contain direct indications of a completely different place where these dramatic events took place. In particular, the place of action is clearly indicated in the English version of the Epistle of St. Paul the Apostle to the Galatians (Gal. 3, 1). It reads: "Oh, foolish Galatians, who bewitched you so that you would not obey the truth, in whose eyes Jesus Christ was clearly exposed, crucified among you?"... The natural center of the region of residence of the Galatians was on the Bosphorus, no matter what it was called: Tsar-Grad, Constantinople or Istanbul. Tsar-Grad and its bald mountain Beykos is the place of the great tragedy, opposite Gul Gata, i.e., in Swedish, the "Golden Gate", a place that turned into a "Golgotha" for Jesus Christ... So, according to the considered phrase from the Gospel, the Galatians-Jews crucified Christ in Constantinople, and not at all in the present Jerusalem..."

Galata is the name of the historical Jewish district of Romea. One of the famous sights of this area of Istanbul — Galata Tower is widely known to tourists all over the world. Galatians are often confused with Gauls. However, Gaul was a mono-ethnic territory. While on the lands of Galatia, present-day Turkey, there was a hybridization of the genetics of Gauls and Semites. In this light, Spanish Galicia, Ukrainian Galicia and Irish Galway are also interesting.

And Nikolai Levashov explains how the churchmen managed to deceive everyone so cleverly for many centuries. In the Middle Ages, there was a separation of powers into State and Spiritual, and there was a time when the power of priests was much stronger. Thus, the city in which the government was located was called the capital. And the city where the high priest's headquarters was located was called Jerusalem. During the lifetime of Christ, the headquarters of the Roman high priest was in Constantinople.

In the 5th chapter of the 2nd volume of the book "The Mirror of My Soul", Nikolai Levashov talks about how the exact place and exact date of Radomir's murder were determined:

"... they left information in the New Testament that completely exposes their forgery! The fact is that, according to the chronicles and calculations of mathematicians, a total solar eclipse happened in Constantinople in 1086, and according to the same chronicles, it was possible to "tie" the time of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ to Constantinople, already "firmly" in place, because the total solar eclipse and earthquake happened in Constantinople on 16 February, 1086!.."

No competing simultaneous phenomena were found, including the official place and time. The paintings of many medieval artists depicting the crucifixion on a remote sea background once again indirectly confirm this.

Let us summarize the results of the investigation. We were able to prove that 25 December is not the birthday of Jesus Christ. On this day every year a new sun is born, turning the wheel in the opposite direction.

We traced the source of the deception through Romea to Carthage and Egypt. We have exposed the multiple layers of historical and religious fakes and methods of deception. And we have identified the main beneficiary and progenitor of the Christian Religion and the Nativity. The one whose attributes are Pine cones, Evergreen, White Clothes, Staff, unkind interest in children, and pyramids. The one who masquerading as different guises has always sought to rule, being in a world of shadows and illusions. And apparently it is no coincidence that at the end of 2022, at the head of two nuclear superpowers, the dead, without regaining consciousness, rule over living people, and brought humanity to the brink of disaster.

"People are stupid and may believe a lie because they want to believe it is true or because they are afraid to know the truth. People are stupid, and if you explain it plausibly, almost everyone will believe anything. People's heads are full of all kinds of knowledge and beliefs, most of which are false, but still people believe in it. People are stupid: they can rarely tell the truth from lies, but they do not doubt that they are capable of it. The easier it is to fool them."

It's time to recognize and understand this first rule of Goodkind in order to nullify it by becoming a Human.

Parting words.

Everyone has their own time, and apart from time, the living have nothing else. In fact, we are made of time. Centuries, religions, ideologies, paradigms, gods, authorities, tyrants and dictators are changing, but time continues to eat us, its children. Sometimes ugly and fast, like our ancestors, sometimes patient, humane and with anesthesia, like us, however, the essence does not change.

The ancient cult of the Reaper god is a multi-level system of life selection, for laymen, adepts, initiates, and so on. Sacrifices were made on all levels. But the meaning of the sacrifices at each level was different. Downstairs, they were just praying to God for some small thing. Serious sacrifices were made during the wars, however, this is also the level of religions and ideologies. And only the supranational pyramidion entered into an equivalent exchange with the system, offering a lot of someone else's time, receiving a little personal in return. For example, the well-known late monarch. Occult rituals served as an entry point into contact with the System. A group of people who possessed the secret of an individual contact state actually acquired the opportunity to prolong their lives at the expense of the lives of others. They were called thinking dark ones.

The dynastic clans of the Black Aristocracy, the executors of the old Control system of the planet, were not overthrown by anyone, they simply disappeared into the shadows, and continued to secretly fulfill the original program, the search for immortality under the new disguises of gods and authorities.

The priests of the cult of the evergreen cone grew old but did not die, they have been searching for a recipe for immortality throughout history. It was needed by the Control System to create performers of programs in one cycle, without sequential transfer of consciousness through several assignments. Limited by 128 octaves, the brain of the System was not able to independently find a solution to the problem of energy biogenesis of a living cell.

Therefore, the thinking Dark Ones went to their immortality like their reaper god, the road of mortal infirmities. They could get rid of their ever-increasing decrepitude, rejuvenate for a while only through sacrifice, whether it was a seventh heart transplant, war, revolution or epidemic. Then, renewed by the young, hot, healthy blood of the victim poured into them, they began to live anew and again became strong and powerful.

The power of the Black Aristocracy, which at all times imposed the cult of the Reaper God on humanity, was carried out through manipulations of time. Add and subtract, transfusing the blood of the chronoprocess from the living to the dead.

Children are a concentrate of time. Time rolled into a spring. When a child grows up, becomes an adult, and then ages and dies, the spring unwinds. Time is being spent. Death is when it's over. The priests sacrificed the time compressed in living beings.

The force of a compressed spring, so to speak. A pyramid of social parasitism is built on this building material. Absolute Evil is living at the expense of the lives of others.

The green cone and the pyramid-shaped Christmas trees are a symbol of the evergreen swamp longing for immortality that reigns in the world of shadows and illusions. A singular parody of the celebration of the chaos of life. Today, the priests of transhumanism are raving about the bio-digital convergence of man and computer, once again cherishing dreams of immortality. However, the ceiling of apophaticism of dual materialism leads them to a natural self-destruction. The transfer of consciousness to a digital basis is self-deception and illusion, an emergency termination of the Reaper God program.

The real symbol of Life, Longevity and Justice is the acorn. Even the mightiest centuries-old oak was once a strong little acorn that any pig could eat. The priceless gift of time is given to a Person for a moment between the past and the future, and he must return it to eternity with honor. Only a Person who has achieved enlightenment with knowledge can control the nature of time, and only a mature Person who has reached the level of the Creator is awarded true Immortality.

Pulsar of the Savior to the rescue!

I would like to complete this little investigation with words that are attributed to many kind people, without losing relevance. "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil, is for good men to do nothing."
