

Salvation of the Saviors.

(5-series 369)

Some formula or background for understanding

In this most complicated, contradictory and incomprehensible time for many, when millions of people on Earth grab hold of validol -
I take up my pen in order to express my information and thoughts for them - on paper!

Regardless of the irrepressible inquisitive thought of people and their constant state of search, they previously developed and multiplied, as it is not regrettable to state, according to the program and in those directions and goals that were PLACED BY THE PREVIOUS SYSTEM in their own interests, but before the liquidation of such a Management System. The details and description of the details of what happened is probably not appropriate today, because it may not be correctly interpreted by people at this stage of conditionally conscious development of people and the level of their brain functions. Today, the other side of some (the majority) philosophical problematic issues, which is particularly closed from people, is more appropriate and interesting.

The programmatically predetermined meaning of life of people and the direction of their GRADUAL DEVELOPMENT of CIVILIZATION was the very life axis, relative to which the direction of the life line of development of people in general was built up and, according to which, the direction of the life line of development of people as a whole was adjusted, as an important element of the general chronoprocess of all future phenomena, actions and events controlled by the past System in its target guidelines.

Today, it makes sense to consider only those aspects of governance that are hidden from people and their implementation through specific actions and events on Earth, which were and still remain connected with their final consequence with the acquisition of the CURRENT DEADEND CONDITION of the development of all spheres of human existence and, how it would be more correct to say, not a society, but a historical system, in order to understand what is happening around us today. Why is it this way and not a different way, or to put it more precisely – why does it not happen the way we think it should, in the framework of our acquired understanding, acquired from the old system, on how to do everything and solve the difficulties in life that have arisen today, like a tsunami that struck all people. It would be necessary to define and explain to people how and why the last historical stage of the system of achieved complex forms and states of being of people turned out to be incomplete in the final stages of its development.

It is the incomplete finale, since this development process was ARTIFICIALLY INTERRUPTED for a number of significant and acquired reasons, part of which is already available in the information field, is known, but not yet by many people, and is distributed by these people among others. All this is directly related to the feature of building and managing the life axis of people's existence from the outside according to the stages of civilization development. It was this vital axis, around which all life was so actively seething, gradually changing the one-historical system to a more "perfect" one, that was perceived by philosophers and through them, by all people, as a verified direction of the path in the development of civilization and had its own energy color. The vital axis, i.e. the constant energy-informational control process, as a corridor of actions and events dictated by the System, adding up the general chronoprocess, had a BLACK COLOR! Yes, it is black, as the most concentrated and higher order of octaves of energy of the entire information management process, relative to the octave of the human brain. All other colors could take place only in the case of a significant or insignificant decrease in the level of such octaves of control energies in the process of receiving, decoding, assimilation and awareness of them by individuals, as a technological process for reducing the level of octaves.

Here it is appropriate to recall the historical dreamers who allegedly construct the future, propagandizing in their works and thoughts – an eternal bright future, and not only on the basis of communist or liberal-democratic, but also other ideologies. In fact, all this turned out to be "secular jargon", for evening gatherings, instead of real results of social science research – THAT'S ALL THE BRIGHT FUTURE. In the past, and in the present, such "builders of the future" are just information translators who perform their functions at the level of their brain genotype development, through which the process of displaying an idea or program took place.

And now this automaticity is still present, especially in the so – called "rulers", which is actually observed and most importantly - is already understood by almost all those who are referred, in their understanding, to "dumb cattle". It is also understood that they have a widespread habit of speaking on behalf of the Scriptures: "the Bible says", "Ayurveda says", "according to scientific discoveries". Although the Bible does not say a word on this topic, Ayurveda is generally about something else, and science has not even heard of it.

All the elemental detailing of this vital axis was carried out by "pensive and brooding" performers from the environment of the ruling class by "decomposing" the information of this black color into an illusory multi-color component. In other words – it is the process of implementing the information manifested through them, i.e., the embodiment of its essence in the future through conscious or automotor "embellishment" of those actions through which it was necessary to come to certain events set by the System when transmitting such control information. This was the starting point for actions of any scale, both in terms of the quantitative coverage of the involved participants in actions, and in terms of territorial scale involvement.

But, it only REALLY SETS THE BEGINNING, as a program, as an idea for its subsequent implementation through actions and events with the participation of all others, but already under the leadership of the governing class. Thus, the development was organized, managed and carried out from stage to stage, and all this was perceived as the development of some separate civilizations and outwardly looked like the achievement of CERTAIN RESULTS OF THEIR DEVELOPMENT. Linguistic multilingual false dusting and embellished scientific and literary lies on all the processes of "development" was and still is a lot and even today is "on the rise", so people are confident, as if "aware" and perceive what is happening, as a certain path that they follow, i.e. "through the thorns to the Stars".

Today, against the background of what is happening, we have discovered a certain formula of outspoken neo-positivists, or those who today are trying to appropriate the right of "all-powerful rulers", consisting of numbers of banknotes and votes in elections. Everything human is for them: conscience, honor, duty, shame, pity, and empathy are almost mercilessly removed from the formula of life. It is enough to analyze what is happening against the background of the so-called pandemic. The pandemic is precisely the BACKGROUND FOR MANIFESTATION of many vices of specific public (and non-public) people, the failure of the state as a system of managing people, the lack of consistency of the state itself and all that we considered not stable, reliable and were confident in the correctness of what statesmen do, like "authorized" by us, to decide our fate and the fate of the state itself. Many people already clearly see that those who represent the so-called "ruling elite", first of all, SEEK MONEY AND POWER at any cost, because these are the only two categories that were and still are the meaning, purpose and value of politics and the economy in our country.

The question is whether this formula will remain the program of behavior of the Russian elite and for what foreseeable time? I have long been far from the moralizing appeals coming from all sides from the fields of the Internet and the media (as we are told – independent), which are loudly laughed at in government offices and winced in the offices of large and small oligarchs and state-owned companies. But they simply do NOT KNOW that the "humanitarian knowledge" they despise, the knowledge and understanding of what is happening, has its own steel logic of life and death, which is stronger than the logic of numbers. The life of the elite is described in detail, and we now understand why and why it was described by humanitarians in the novels of Balzac, Zola, Stendhal, Dreiser, Tolstoy, Gorky, and others.

Horses were replaced by cars and helicopters, but the man remained the same - he is as DEFENSELESS as BEFORE his conscience as before his death: he does not wait for them, but they will come. In Russia, this is a time when many people prefer to learn from their own mistakes. It is NOT POSSIBLE to resist the withdrawal of humanitarian knowledge from real Russian life. Won't the rich and powerful listen to people who don't know why they're poor if they're so smart? The experience of what has been going on since 2012-13, which is still a small experience, but with a great perspective, is important today because people, very late for themselves, are beginning to realize the logic of humanitarian knowledge{1}. I know from my own experience that there is nothing more terrible than the LOSS OF THE MEANING OF LIFE, which today is faced by most people who do not want or do not know how to understand what is happening, but I believe that they are not to blame for this.

How can you understand the essence of what is happening for those who have NOT yet come into CONTACT with New knowledge that have not yet (for many reasons and the most powerful resistance in their dissemination) received mass distribution and understanding by people? Take at least and apply mathematical analysis (differential and integral calculus), which was invented by V. G. Leibniz and hid from us, in that it was created precisely to DESCRIBE THE HUMAN MIND, and not to count money or the flight of a Cannonball or rocket, in which today many are successful{2}.

As early as 1675, Leibniz proved that all higher mathematics CANNOT solve the equation of even the simplest act of a person, and not that of his consciousness. Therefore, the "humanitar" V. G. Leibniz (lawyer, psychologist, logician, linguist, mathematician: all in one person) presented mathematical analysis to natural scientists. Because of inattention to this fact, the "powers that be", and especially recently, have started to control the behavior of people who it reached their hands, following the precepts of the son of the great French revolution, the Creator of positivism Auguste Comte{3}, although many of them have not heard about Comte. Positivism has already caused a lot of trouble by purging the Humanities as a science from people's minds, and how many troubles are still ahead? Numbers, numbers, numbers, exchange reports, exchange rates, surveys, counting of votes, and behind - the graves, graves, graves of young men that reduce the population of Russia, which has remained without relief, care, and humane treatment. The mistake is that conscience; love, honor, duty, and generosity CANNOT be MEASURED in numbers, and therefore CANNOT be BOUGHT or CANNOT be SOLD. Politics is the brainchild of the Humanities, and the appearance of mathematics in it is its death, because there is no Man in its formula. This is the key and especially for today.

{1} Humanitarian knowledge is knowledge about the spiritual side of a person. The subject of humanitarian knowledge is values, etc.. incidents, concepts that have individual significance; it is a reality that is endowed with human meaning. Thanks to humanitarian knowledge, a person has the ability to navigate the world around them, understand the processes that occur around them, and build cause-and-effect relationships.

{2} Leibniz V. G. "New experiments on the human mind", Moscow, 1939.

{3} Isidore Marie Auguste François Xavier Comte; 19 January, 1798 – September 1857) is a French philosopher. The founder of positivism. The founder of sociology as an independent science. Major works - which brought him the greatest fame "Course of Positive Philosophy" (vols. 1-6, 1830-1842) and "System of Positive Politics, or Treatise on Sociology, Establishing the Religion of Humanity"

Many "rulers" have fallen into the trap of ignoring humanitarian knowledge. They, by the way, like any of us, all their lives solved the main humanitarian task that everyone faces immediately after birth: to break through the "road to people". Indeed, as soon as we are born, we shout loudly, attracting mom's attention! God forbid if she does not press us to her chest! Then we caress our parents to feel their tenderness, which is needed like a breath of air. Who has not seen how little children are jealous of their parents and fight for them with everyone to whom they showed the slightest attention? Then we try to look beautiful and strong in order to get our well-deserved measure of love. Then, with our talent as a professional or courage as a soldier, we try to earn the recognition of many people, without which life is impossible. All we yearn for in this life is a glance, a touch, another person's words of approval. Even psychopaths smoke on the subway and swear loudly in order to ATTRACT ATTENTION, because otherwise no one sees them as if they were not there, as if they were invisible. It is unbearable, and they have no other road to people. Especially now all this is developed on the Internet in social networks - and you do not need to smoke in the metro - you can attract attention to yourself by your assessments of someone or something, without choosing words and without even thinking about what you are writing, but about the consequences of what you have written - just keep quiet. We all choose different options for the "road to people". We choose the way we understand this road. You can walk "along the mathematical curve" and not along the "humanistic straight line".

I've seen a lot of cynics who find this kind of reasoning funny because they were lucky: they weren't thrown down the garbage chute after birth, they weren't left in a maternity hospital, they weren't kicked out of work and out of the country, and they weren't left to die in an empty apartment. They are still lucky. But they may be very unlucky if THEY DO NOT REALIZE that everything that a person has – from mother's milk to a piece of bread, from carnal pleasures to self-confidence-is given to him by other people. It is bestowed, because this happiness CANNOT BE BOUGHT NOR TAKEN away. Even we understand ourselves by looking into other people's eyes as if in a mirror. If there are no eyes to look at, no hands to touch a person, then a person dies all alone, even if he is active on the Internet, thinks that he is known to many and therefore gives out his "recommendations" on the right and on the left, which are not based on anything, but he thinks that everyone is listening carefully! And this is far from the case – because there comes a time when there is no one to give him a glass of water, call a doctor, and ask: is he still alive? I do not want to list such tragedies of recent months.

In history there are NO SECRETS, there is nothing that will NOT BE REVEALED. Masking hoaxes as real actions – is one of the formulas "government" has used for the past decades by the so-called "elite" and "rulers". It is absolutely a childish technique, a hundred times described in the Humanities, which of course has not been read by these people, for the unnecessary need of their "omniscience", and which is visible to all today, especially in the "light" created by a "coronavirus" and its so-called waves. These people were trapped in the illusion of easy access to the people they needed, just like any of us. In the 90s in the Russian Federation, it was possible to buy services and bodies of people for money and power. Many people took advantage of this opportunity. These illusions made it possible to leave the work of self-knowledge, in specialties, and join the power and money as an opportunity to decide the fate of people, determine their behavior, make them dependent, and get everything from them that you just do not want. It is easy to succumb to this illusion, because the "road to people" IS a TASK of INCREDIBLE COMPLEXITY: millions of people meet for years every day, and do not notice each other. Between people who are at arm's length, as if there are invisible walls, a whole jungle of obstacles that can only be overcome by self-improvement, self-knowledge or the desire for it, hard work, as many ordinary citizens do. In this way, they turn into bright talents and feats, from which the "road to people" is built. Not everyone can do this: they lack strength, intelligence, will, aspiration, and character. Therefore, they say that " life is not a field to cross". The trouble with today's rulers is that they are tempted to take the opportunity to overcome the path to people in one leap, which they have dragged on for many decades. They didn't stand the test of money and power. They reduced their formula of life to money and power, as the highest measure of all things.

This is repeatedly described in Balzac, Moscovici, Simmel, and others. They probably did not read them, so they missed the humanitarian component of the problem: money and power give a fatal opportunity to ignore people and their opinions. They got ersatz everything they wanted, but under the condition of exclusion from the "formula of power" of the soul, pity, compassion, nobility, ruthlessly removing people from the way to money and power. To select everything without giving anything to people – this was laid in their minds initially, when the last stage of the "plan" was being implemented, completing the main program of the Old management System.

Will these "mistakes" be corrected in Russia? If we judge this at the everyday level of thinking of these "rulers", which is highlighted by the current pandemic, NO ONE THINKS ABOUT THIS. They most likely think that the "power formula" they created in the early 2000s will quietly continue the process of reducing the population, which is not needed by the raw material economy, because according to this formula, the problem of debit and credit is more important problems than good and evil. It is more than obvious to me that the so-called "leaders" who find humanitarian reasoning and reasoning based on New knowledge ridiculous, who nevertheless make their way into this world, realize the fallacy of solving Russia's problems according to the "formula of power" invented by them, but nothing can be fixed. One can only imagine for a moment what will happen if not only the "elite" and "rulers", but all the citizens of Russia think one thing and say another; say the second and do the third; do the third, and show the fourth, etc. Impressive. This is the "formula of power", which, if adopted by the entire population of the Russian Federation, will turn out to be a double-edged sword. For example, today the Government realized that half of the country's citizens do not know what and where they are doing?

Half - this is putting it mildly: more than half of the country has gone into the gray economy, like partisans, following the "power formula" and do not pay taxes. Or, recently, the whole country learned about a "huge plunder" in the forestry industry and suddenly began to fight it. I can name ten more, more significant for the fate of the country, problems to which the Government of the Russian Federation DID NOT GET. What to do? To abandon this "formula of power" for everyone: both the "rulers" and all the working people, because without such a refusal, the people in the country will not have confidence in the government, and the government in the people. This is not a problem of the authorities and the "ruling elite", it is a problem in understanding the ongoing changes that no elite and no rulers can stop and this is a problem of all people, a problem that can be solved, provided that these people want to know, understand and change. This is a problem in understanding new realities in global political realities of Russia. A person will (still) return to time from a little meaningful counting of hours, minutes and seconds and will really understand that he SHOULD NOT torment both science and himself with searches for various reasons, for example, the division of the whole history into some types of civilizations and similar speculations based on nothing. Don't believe what is written here? Then go and read at least the works of Nikolai Morozov.

Find a reference point in understanding and cognition first of all - for yourself and then, quite possibly, your Brain will begin to understand, for example, that over the past 18,000 years, Civilization has been one and it was divided only into stages. At the heart of the time frame for each stage of the development of Civilization, the parameters of the executive stage-by-stage processes from the programs for "Development of brain genotypes and energy biogenesis of body flesh" were laid. No development of productive forces or production relations, features of the construction of social structures of management or distribution of goods through any form of property, the mystical impact of "isms" or other attempts by theorists to base the division of the whole history into some types of civilizations - all this is not objective, because this is a consequence of the lack of true knowledge about the realities of the earlier processes in the externally controlled development of people. Moreover, the very information-technological process of managing its origin at each stage was almost identical. In addition to changes in the level of knowledge dictated by the System and the corresponding level of development of technologies for the production of goods and services, as well as management structures for the organization of production and distribution of goods ON THE BASIS OF VIOLENCE, as a consequence and as a product of the execution of the program for the development of brain genotypes, nothing more significant in the world of man changed. But today we have witnessed real changes in this expanded process. The entire multi-colored veil, like a legend, in the orientation of development through various ideas, proclaimed programs, "discoveries" and so on, was and still remains so far, only a distraction of the developing brain of people from realizing the truth itself in the processes taking place. This legend is focused with its distracting attention on various "troubles" to change social structures and forms of government through forced and compulsory violence, domestic, consumer, entertainment and spiritual orientation, which is still changing very actively today, as the brain functions improve. Illusory and outwardly spectacular, as it were

The HISTORICAL LEAP from loincloths to model clothes from Versace, from wild horses to Rolls-Royce, from falling out of a tree before the flight on a large missile to level the upper atmosphere, keeping still DREAMY NAIVETY ABOUT SPACE, it is the development of civilization, or striving to meet growing irrepressible consumer instinct of people from the old System? Of course, and there is no doubt about this, analyzing what is happening today. And where is the main thing, i.e. the development of the complex of functions of the true purpose of Man on Earth and their consistent implementation, where the perfection of the Mind of all Mankind and its harmony with the universal Mind, where, in the end, the DEVELOPING MAN HIMSELF is without vices and with a spiritual purity of thoughts from his natural greatness. There is no It, smeared in a single-purpose consumption of goods and services, lost in the wilds of greed with their unequal power division, while not forgetting to destroy the environment with special aggression! Only one such causal outcome is enough to ensure that such a "reasonable" civilization could not have any rights and hopes for its existence at all, especially in the future.

This is exactly what the decision was made from the level of the new System and universal mind. You can believe it or not - this is the right of everyone, but what is happening, if you carefully analyze it, this is what it says. It is precisely because of the further INEXPEDIENCY of DEVELOPING such a "reasonable" existence that the beginning of the era of recreating the truly native pre-interventional management conditions and restoring all other complex conditions on Earth is timed to our time. Any system gets rid of any atavism, because it is inevitable.

It is necessary to determine in a timely manner and correctly what is now objectively manifested in the quality of this atavism, concerning all spheres of human existence and their very life in general. All the circumstances of the emerging system states at the moment are already reduced in their level, including control, to the states of the 0th year of the new era, so far as the initial starting step of this stage of the ongoing changes! IT'S NOT ONLY INEVITABLE, this is a mandatory process associated with the elimination of some of the consequences of the Earth's earlier intervention. But about these states of managerial atavism, changes in living conditions and the environment, all judgments are still premature. First of all, it is necessary to UNDERSTAND IN YOURSELF, what will be subject to liquidation from the results of the achieved level of development of people, and what needs to be preserved, how and what to be ready for.

On a cold January morning, a man sat down at a Washington metro station and began playing the violin. For 45 minutes, he played 6 pieces. During this time, since it was rush hour, more than a thousand people passed by him, most of them went to work, another 20, without stopping, threw money. The musician's earnings were $32.00. None of the passers-by knew that the violinist was Joshua Bell – one of the best musicians in the world. He played some of the most complex pieces ever written, and the instrument was a $3.5 million Stradivarius violin.

Two days before the subway performance, his concert in Boston, where the average ticket price was $ 100, was sold out. Joshua Bell playing in the subway is part of the Washington Post's social experiment about people's perceptions, tastes, and priorities, the principles of which were: do we feel beauty in everyday environments? Will we stop to evaluate it? Do we recognize talent in unexpected situations? One of the conclusions of this experiment may be the following: if we can't find time to stop for a while and listen to the best music ever written performed by one of the best musicians on the planet; if the pace of modern life has become so rapid that we become blind and deaf, then why do we need such a life? Why do we need the incessant pursuit of other people's imposed values? And what else do we lose in this crazy race? The answer is one: We lose the main thing in the hustle and bustle of everyday life – we lose life itself.
