

Salvation of the Saviors

(series 38-369)

Deep drilling...

Advice for life — learn to separate desires from needs

We all really want to "look" at least into the near future in order to understand the principle of the functioning of the social model that will be deployed there. And, in general, what will be deployed there in the future? But to do this, we need to return once again to the consideration of the nature of modern human "material". One of his main qualities is that today he has small scale thinking and exorbitant ambitions. The great people of antiquity recognized someone's authority (priests, philosophers, thinkers, God...). Our contemporaries do NOT RECOGNIZE any authority, in principle. The vast majority of people at a deep level are sure: that their personality is the highest value in the universe. There is nothing higher even in theory. Today, scientists, as in the time of Aristotle, stand in front of the gates to the mystery of man, passing off their hypotheses as theories. Many years ago, even before my acquaintance with Nikolai Levashov, I heard from academician B. G. Ananyev that "there is Macrocosm — the Universe, and there is microcosm — man, which is NOT INFERIOR to it in complexity." This is not an exaggeration. But — the achievements of scientists in this matter can be compared with the achievements of geologists who tried to find out the secret of the Earth by penetrating into the Kola by drilling a well at a depth of 12,262 meters, despite the fact that the center of the Earth is 6,371,000 meters or 6,371 km. In fact, geologists have penetrated into the mystery of the Earth to a depth comparable to the thickness of a soap film on the surface of a football. In the same way, scientists have penetrated into the secrets of human psychology and behavior to a depth comparable to the "thickness of a soap film". A person who is physically so close that you can touch him with your hand, is psychologically inaccessible to a complete and clear understanding, like the core of the Earth for geologists or space for astronomers. However, scientists invent more and more new methods of studying the human psyche, without interfering with each other at all. And this leads to the fact that people who are influenced by these scientists, to one degree or another, DO NOT KNOW much; for example, values for which they are willing to consciously give their lives — not in a rush of emotions and NOT in REFLECTIONS in the kitchen, but consciously, like Christians, weighing all the pros and cons", decided to die for Christ. Few exceed the level of urban primates; however, the general atmosphere of the era is not formed by the few, but by the majority. This can be seen by the reaction of people to what is happening in Ukraine today and all that is connected with it. Of course, the absence of GLOBAL GOALS, giving rise to the priority of the immediate good, did NOT START TODAY. As a result, the attitudes of humanism and liberalism appeared, raising this plane of thinking to the norm.

Earthly values: human life, material goods and earthly pleasures formed the basis of the value system. Its foundation is not a worldview, but instincts. The spirit of the epoch permeated the leading part of humanity. Today, it is impossible to find a more developed society on the Planet, that by default, does NOT TAKE these attitudes for granted. It seems as natural as breathing. Any country, including Islamic ones, positioning themselves as the enemy of humanism and democracy, share the values of humanism in fundamental parameters. No one asks the question "from what do the highest values of humanism follow?". The inhabitants of our era consider them to be true only because THEY CORRESPOND to their instincts. People seem to ask their flesh: "Is it good to have fun?". She answers them: "It Is Good." This recognition is enough to elevate EVERYDAY TRUTH to the status of the HIGHEST IDEA, and consider everything else demagogy. The shortest way to realize everyday truths is money. The shortest way to get money is to take it away. This is ideal, because the profit is 100%, the investment is zero.

is it good to have fun? It is good... it is good... it is good...

This truth is not framed in a strict system, but it is present on a subconscious level, prompting one to commit logical actions that follow from basic attitudes. People steal everything they have access to, and in SOPHISTICATED AND UNEXPECTED forms, covering it up with various blah-blah-blah (or not covering it at all), which only increases the atmosphere of cynicism and venality. Any administrative attempts to somehow change the financial and social disadvantaged position of the majority of people, only doubly worsens their situation in any area of application of such solutions. In practice, this is exactly how it happens.

There are irrefutable evidences of various attempts to solve problems on the part of the governing structures: in the field of healthcare, social housing, changes in housing and communal services, pensions and many other things that require specific active actions using the sphere of financial concern or its application. As soon as any guiding decision or practical actions are initiated, expressed by a specific figure in the financial budgetary draft, then immediately the "invisible shadow of the generally suffocating financial social parasitism" will perform its annihilating and all-destroying "solo". No matter what title or surname is used to make this happen, it will be this way, and NOT OTHERWISE. Neither the position, nor the name, even presupposes in advance that it was for this that they broke through to this place with their gift of a functional "life endowment", in order, as an "electronic or all-encompassing paper trap", to STEAL FROM THE PLANNED BUDGET EXPENDITURE exactly that and as much as they could play as a positive impact on the solution of some private social problem for everyone else. The quintessence of the situation is in the political sector.

Politicians call for what THEY DO NOT BELIEVE IN THEMSELVES — not because people are bad, but because they proceed in their actions from their vision of the world. The speeches of those who position themselves as national leaders are empty. At first, they were funny, now they are simply annoying. Everyone understands: THEY DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO. There is no goal to achieve, which you can call for. An attempt to replace the highest goal with calls to "live well..." had the opposite effect. The leaders were guided by a seemingly obvious logic: if everyone strives to arrange their life, in the end everyone will live well. Since the most effective tool for achieving the STATED GOAL is money, and the most EFFECTIVE WAY IS THEFT, the highest goal was the extraction of money in the optimal way. Guided by this impeccable logic, people considered their position primarily as a way to get money. Here are the roots of all embezzlement and abuse. To shame people for the fact that they faithfully carry out the indoctrination suggested to them, is stupid and without meaning. What considerations should a person be guided by in order to refuse a bribe? Why, having a choice — to harm society (and make money) or to benefit society (and not make money), a person, a product of modern society, almost always chooses the first option? Because there is NO MOTIVATION for the second one. The atmosphere of the temporality of everything, including office and life (this is the basis of the democratic system with its constant change of power), greatly enhances the effect.

The current leadership's concern about the growing corruption that has taken root, is in vain! Corruption is not an official disease of society. This is the program state of the performers of Brain genotypes 42 and 44. This is their vital functional performing vocation, endowed with it from the outside by the System. Therefore, it is possible to fight corruption only by eliminating this "vocation", however, TOGETHER WITH THE PERFORMERS and not otherwise! Now this is the task of the new System. It is not instantaneous in its completion; however, it will be completed during the transition period. In the course of such a period, it is necessary to at least TRY TO SELECT individuals of a different Brain genotype for such work, and the result will be obvious. However, the current leadership does not have such a "genotype-tomography" with which it would be possible to determine the genotype, and who will allow them to isolate it from the financial environment? This is a private task. It is solvable and it is already being implemented before our eyes, we just do not understand this yet. I'll try to clarify. Thus, INDEPENDENTLY OF PEOPLE, a certain destructive effect was carried out by an invisible state of parasitism, manifested by its effectiveness in severe material and social infringement, up to a destructive effect, especially on the historically indigenous peoples of Russia. The system has raised its own gravediggers. If we have been told DAY AND NIGHT, directly and indirectly, over the past two decades: the main thing in life is MATERIAL WELL-BEING and the arrangement of everyday life — now the system is reaping the fruits of its installations. Embezzlement and bribery have exclusively ideological roots. Until the settings are changed, there is no chance to defeat theft (whatever it is called). To change the situation, it is necessary not to copy the patterns of the past era, as seemingly obvious as they are not working, rather, to GIVE A NEW WORLDVIEW. A new worldview, so that it is understandable and accessible, can be found by analyzing the past, or rather those events that are similar to today. Take, for example, the work of V. I. Lenin "The coming catastrophe and how to deal with it."¹ It is extremely relevant in solving many (major) problems of today.

Вот почему — и только поэтому — все капиталисты, все буржуазные профессора, вся буржуазия, все служащие ей Плехановы и Потресовы и К° с пеной у рта готовы воевать против национализации банков, выдумывать тысячи отговорок против этой легчайшей и насущнейшей меры, хотя даже с точки зрения «обороны» страны, т.е. с военной точки зрения, эта мера была бы гигантским плюсом, она подняла бы «военную мощь» страны в громадных размерах.

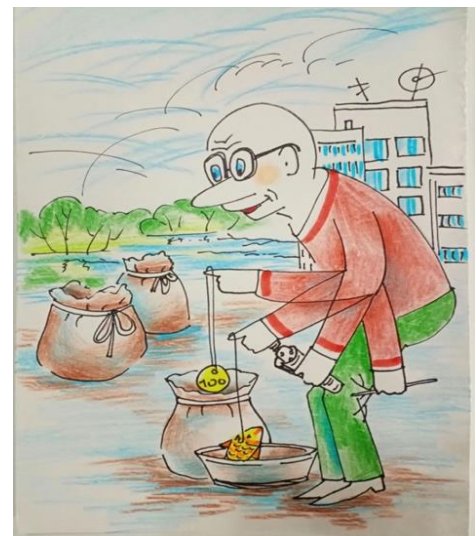

That is why - and only because of this - all capitalists, all bourgeois professors, the entire bourgeoisie, all the Plekhanovs and Potresovs and Co., who serve them are ready with glee to fight against the nationalization of the banks, to invent thousands of excuses against this easiest and most urgent measure, although even from the point of view of the “defense” of the country, i.e., from a military point of view, this measure would be a giant plus, it would raise the “military power” of the country in enormous proportions.

I am not just referring the reader to this work, which few people know today. I will try to dwell on it in detail in the next article, explaining the realities of what is happening here today. If people reasonably consider this to be true and agree with the conclusions (like a passenger of a sinking ship who recognizes the information about the disaster as true, agrees with the conclusion that certain actions are necessary), then this is the way out. While they are trying to replace the ideological vacuum with the IDEA OF A WAY OF LIFE, the situation cannot be corrected, even in theory. The authorities are doomed to introduce the last argument — fear. There are also problems here: punishing bodies are needed for fear. Punishers are the same philistines. They have no other purpose than to arrange life. This means that they will begin NOT SO MUCH punishing as TRADING THEIR OPPORTUNITY to punish. The security forces will not be able to perform a punitive function. Their helplessness against terrorist attacks confirms this. To UNDERSTAND ONESELF in the service of an idea is one model of behavior. Understanding YOUR PLACE AS A FEEDER is another model of behavior. In both cases, the logic of behavior determines the starting point, not the desire for power. The Soviet Chekists served the idea of communism (it doesn't matter that they didn't understand it deeply, it's enough that they believed in it). This explains why they would do almost anything. To represent the scope and thoroughness of the work, let me remind you: during the terrorist attack in the late 70s in the Moscow metro, the KGB checked all subscribers of the newspaper "Soviet Sport". Reason: a piece of this newspaper was found at the site of the terrorist attack. How did it get there? Maybe it had been there since morning, accidentally left by someone, and had nothing to do with the terrorists. Is unknown. But the SECURITY OFFICERS CHECKED EVERYTHING. The newspaper had more than three million subscribers.

Everyone was checked. If the Soviet KGB had taken up the problem of terrorism with those cadres today, the result would have been quick and visible. Moreover - if there was a political will, even our (to put it mildly - "non-initiative") FSB could have solved many problems. But what is there to solve if there is no will at all, and this is evident in the many examples that we see daily. Instead of solving the problem, they pay it off. Who does not understand that this is a time bomb? It's clear to everyone. It is unclear what people who make such decisions hope for. The level of logic of our power is OSTRICH TACTICS. As long as the issue is being solved with money, we will solve it with money. When the problem is no longer solved with money, then we will think about what to do. Such a strategy leads to a dead end, because by that time the problem will NOT BE SOLVED at all. Painkillers can relieve pain, but DO NOT ELIMINATE the cause of pain. Injecting painkillers is the easiest way. To understand it as a treatment is the most dangerous. As long as people have a different motivation, there can be nothing strategic in principle. This is clearly visible in the security forces. People get jobs in the FSB and the Ministry of Internal Affairs not to serve society, not to protect it, but to earn money. Many people have frank dreams: if only they could grab several million at once, and roll everything to a famous mother. I don't blame these people, especially the young ones, because if you were taught from an early age to take everything from life, and if everyone around you takes everything from life, and the system squeezes out the cranks who don't take it, because they are a blood clot in financial flows, how can you expect otherwise? When a child is taught to speak only English from a young age, he will NOT SPEAK Russian. Only a complete idiot would scold him for his English speech.

You can change some generals and privates for others as much as you like, but if the new ones have the same goals as the previous ones, the situation will not change. People need to be given a goal (not to be confused with a slogan, which it is unclear why you need to follow). With a NEW GOAL, they will perform other actions. Modern people resemble worms living in the countryside. Striving for their own good, they gnaw holes in the roots and trunk, arranging their way of life, WITHOUT THINKING anything of destroying the system, if only because they do not think on such a scale. All their thoughts and goals are within the framework of household goods and vanity. If you ask a worm if he wants the system to collapse, he will be outraged — OF COURSE NOT! On the contrary, he wishes the tree health and prosperity. He can spontaneously give out a whole speech on this topic. And this is not guile. His logic is clear: the healthier the tree, the more he will get. If you explain to the worm that he is sawing the branch on which he is sitting, and let's say he understands everything, NOTHING WILL CHANGE. Previously, he felt that not everything is calm in our kingdom, we need to make reserves at a rapid pace, without looking back, before the system collapses.

And our worm will begin to prepare strenuously for itself a "reserve airfield". A typical example: the position of rector of a large university is vacant. The candidate for this position is appointed by voting. There are a lot of applicants. One group "presented" who should be considered, agreed on by contributions with kickbacks and so on. The decision was made in favor of the person of this group. It remains to observe the formal procedure (academics must vote for the candidate). THERE IS NO CANDIDATE. It is impossible to negotiate with academics for a bribe. They are key figures; their vote legitimizes the appointment. How do you make academics vote for the one for whom they "entered"? (Note how the emphasis has shifted: formerly "bribed," that is, judgmental, and now "bribed," that is, mundane and businesslike). In this change, one can grasp the nature of man. People DON'T WANT to look bad. But THEY WANT TO ACHIEVE their goals. And since the goal is money by any means, they veil unseemly deeds with neutral words. So, in order for the academics to vote correctly, they need to create a situation where all the candidates, compared to our "none", will be even worse. Finding themselves in such a situation, academics will begin to operate with the logic of "a half loaf is better than no bread" and vote for the right candidate. So far, it seems to be nothing special, the usual kickbacks/sunsets. The special thing is here: in order to create a situation in which "no" will take place, "solvers" identify applicants who are really professionals with a name and could raise the work of the university. Having identified "dangerous" figures, THEY DELETE THEM from the list (good candidates are eliminated for formal reasons). Squalor, on the contrary, is given a way. The more miserable the candidates are, the better the "no one" (who is voted in) will look. The academicians who choose the rector are shocked by the submitted candidates. They grumble (but not very actively) about why worthy people are NOT INCLUDED on the list. They do not realize that all the worthy ones were specially and carefully cleaned out, in order to APPOINT THEIR OWN. As a result, academics vote for "none", because you can't look at the rest without tears. Such is the personnel policy. This is a repetition of the well-known political technology, when all dangerous candidates are removed from the elections, no matter how good they are. The passing score here is not in the ability to create, but in the guarantee that the person placed in the position will steal and share. And that the object led by him will begin to fall apart — this has its advantages. There is a reason to point out insufficient funding. Your people will correctly draw up the necessary papers, the mosquito will NOT UNDERMINE you, and everything will look right. Next year, the budget will increase, the income of worms will grow. But the facility will still rot.

The accident at the Sayano-Shushenskaya HPP demonstrates the dependence of the visible structure on the invisible system. Hydraulic unit No. 4 collapsed, not because of a technical error, metal fatigue and other nonsense that the media fed us. Knowledgeable people in the know: this was due to KICKBACKS AND CUTS. Money for planned repairs was stupidly stolen. The logic of the official is simple: why spend money on something that already works? Wouldn't it be better to spend it on yourself? Then the strategy of actions is clear. On paper, everything was done, in practice the money was stolen, and the hydroelectric power station failed. An uninformed reader may NOT BELIEVE IT. How is that possible? And if it is possible, who is to blame and why NOT RESTORE order? How do you restore order if the system is built on this? You can't give an order without giving a kickback. Or rather, you can, but only once. The second time, the one who did not get a kickback will not follow an order. They will refuse for formal reasons. It becomes the ridiculous. Money is allocated to replace road ties, and a crazy kickback is requested. The contractor says: if I am only given so much, I will not be able to physically do the work. In response to him: do not change all the road ties, just every other one. Further kickbacks, and - the road BECOMES NARROWER. Billions are floating away. Criminal cases are being initiated. Then the "skid", and things wind down. And NO PRESIDENT can do anything about it, because the system is stronger than any of its parts. This effect was noted by I. V. Stalin when he spoke about the power of the Apparatus. There are examples that do not fit at all". The mayor of one large city quarreled with the owner of the airport and began to "cut off his oxygen ". He started "repairing" the road and bridge, effectively blocking the way to the airport for all ground transport, and also hindered direct rail communication between the city and the airport.

Worms stop seeing the shore in pursuit of their goal. To be consistent, the worms are right. They logically and with all their might strive for the goal that they have been inspired with. If you awaken in the worms pity for the tree and its inhabitants, logic will still take over. "WHAT WILL CHANGE?" they will think, "if we, one of the many "sawing and skidding", stop sawing and skidding?"

Nothing. And if so, what's the point? We will only make it worse for ourselves and everyone who depends on us. But for what? What is the purpose?" Dead end...

I will conclude the analogy about worms with their full justification. It is impossible to condemn people for choosing the most effective path for themselves to the goal that THEY HAVE BEEN INSPIRED with. Human nature is such that IT CANNOT BUT STRIVE for the good. What people consider good; they will strive for in every way. But what it is exactly that people consider good does NOT DEPEND ON THEM. It depends on the system. We have questionable human material. His main vice is that he sees the only purpose of his life in the arrangement of his life. He is initially focused on taking as much as possible from society and giving as little as possible (ideally, taking everything and giving nothing). Modern man absorbs these attitudes with his mother's milk, they are AT the subconscious LEVEL. It is extremely difficult to make people abandon these attitudes, however, it is possible and necessary, otherwise Russia simply will not exist, and many people already understand this. How can we change and build the social structure we need in these conditions? In my opinion, only through the method of "deep drilling", not surface, as with the above, namely with deep drilling, to the very essence of the intended.

It should be understood that the situation has reached the point where Western intelligence agencies have activated their "tentacles", long embedded in the corridors of Russian power. They were activated in all possible ways, up to DIRECT BRIBERY. These "tentacles" (agents) are trying to persuade NOT ONLY officials, but also officers of the Russian Armed Forces, to cooperate. The *report of the Henry Jackson Society (HJS)*², published in Britain, makes a recommendation: it is necessary to facilitate the flight of senior officials and officers from the country. According to the authors of the report, traitors will be promised political asylum in any country of their choice in exchange for meaningful information. No more and no less. Western governments SHOULD ENCOURAGE the defection of Russian government officials who will be granted asylum in the country of their choice in exchange for insider information. All this is already being written quite openly, no one hides their intentions: they encourage betrayal in exchange for "cakes". There is no longer any secret that the West has set itself the goal of destroying Russia as an opponent. They called it decolonization. How widespread can such a dangerous situation be, when these "servants of the people", both in civilian and military service, can do us very much harm?

² The Henry Jackson Society (HJS) is a transatlantic foreign policy think tank based in London. Its aim is to promote liberal democracy throughout the world. It is currently focused primarily on supporting global democracy in the face of threats from China and Russia. The society is named after American politician Henry M. Jackson, a Democrat, Senator from Washington State, who was a civil rights activist and anti-communist, liberal hawk.

I say this mildly, because the process is already underway, and it CANNOT but go on, which was revealed by the ongoing special military operation in Ukraine. It was the detonator of many processes taking place in the country and in the world, about which most of us guessed, but still harbored the inner illusion that this COULD NOT be, because it COULD NOT BE. Society was stirred up, realizing that a number of officials in Russia have lied, big lies and total lies. This is something that was NOT JUST incorporated into the system of power, but became its basis. That is, in the floor above is less truth, even higher is even less truth, and manipulation begins. And these people (basically people) are now beginning to understand that the situation has escalated, so they are trying to cancel a special military operation at any cost, they want to negotiate at any cost. They are ready for anything. They are even ready to demolish the country, because they clearly understand that they will NOT GET ANYWHERE, they will keep their positions and, perhaps, even be promoted. After all, it will be necessary to manage all this. And if they demolish the country, sanctions will be lifted from them, which means that everything they stole will remain with them and their "heirs". Against this background, it's easiest to say (and many say it): "it is necessary to make political decisions, otherwise we will find ourselves in the same situation that the 1916-1917 Russian Empire was in." Everything is correct. Only after making such decisions — who will execute and implement them? The same worms? The mind of MANY PEOPLE today has caused confusion and some kind of hopelessness in their thinking. Some, by virtue, as it seems to them, of their "rich" experience (both in politics, and in predicting situations and explaining them), say and write one thing. Those who OPPOSE THEM and have a so-called "opinion", based on their life experience and "experience in politics", say and write something else, completely the opposite. And where can a simple "electorate" go then? And we also have an "elite" — these are those who give themselves the name (call themselves) and are proud of their "elitism", locked into the framework of searching for answers to the questions of the primacy of the phenomenon "chicken — egg", "matter — consciousness", "money in the morning — chairs in the evening", and why not on the contrary.

Sometimes (but not very often) they rise in their arguments at attempts to understand WHERE THEY COME FROM at the right historical moment, where and why passionaries³ and entire societies go. The seemingly correct manifestations of their answers plunge people EVEN MORE into confusion, and MISUNDERSTANDING of everything that is happening makes them take on faith, everything that this "elite" announces. But about the "elite" and their elitism — later. It is much more important, probably, that against the background of today's numerous demands for the MOBILIZATION of the ECONOMY and its transfer to MILITARY RAILS, the news about the bankruptcy and sale of the property of defense plants sounds absolutely fantastic. Meanwhile, the smallest amount of attention and reflection is enough to make sure that there are ways to deal with this catastrophe (I'm not afraid of this word). The measures of struggle are quite clear, simple, quite feasible, quite accessible to the people's forces, and these measures are inaccessible only solely because their implementation will affect the unheard-of profits of a handful of specific people. I guarantee that today you will NOT FIND a single speech, not a single article on your favorite Internet or anywhere else, not a single resolution of any assembly or institution that acknowledges a perfectly clear, definitely basic and mainstream measure to counteract the catastrophe.

This measure: control, supervision, accounting, regulation by the state, establishing the correct distribution of labor forces in production and distribution, and saving people's forces, eliminating any unnecessary waste of energy, saving them. CONTROL, SUPERVISION, ACCOUNTING — these are the first words in the fight against the situation in which we find ourselves today. That's what is controversial and generally accepted. And that's what they don't do out of fear of encroaching on the omnipotence of the so-called "rich people", senior government officials, on their immense, unheard-of, scandalous profits and incomes, which are based on high prices, artificially created and on military supplies. And almost all state corporations, banks and large companies are working for the war now, directly or indirectly, whose profits everyone knows, everyone is watching, about which everyone is gasping and groaning, and THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NO serious control, accounting, supervision by the state (which has stated that IT will do just that) in fact, IT IS NOT DONE. There is a widespread, systematic, steady sabotage of all control, supervision, and accounting, of all attempts to establish this on the part of the state. And it takes incredible naivety NOT to UNDERSTAND — it takes pure hypocrisy to pretend NOT TO UNDERSTAND — where this sabotage comes from, by what means it is produced.

И только контроль за банками, за центром, за главным стержнем и основным механизмом капиталистического оборота позволил бы наладить на деле, а не на словах, контроль за всей хозяйственной жизнью, за производством и распределением важнейших продуктов, наладить то «регулирование экономической жизни», которое иначе осуждено неминуемо оставаться министерской фразой для надувания простонародья.

And only control over the banks, over the center, over the main pivot and main mechanism of capitalist turnover, would make it possible to organize in practice, and not in words, control over the entire economic life, over the production and distribution of the most important products, to establish that "regulation of economic life" which otherwise, it is inevitably condemned to remain a ministerial phrase for swindling the common people.

This sabotage was initiated by bankers, officials and so-called "capitalists". This is the DISRUPTION, BY THEM, of all control, supervision, accounting and a cover for their actions with democracy and democratic principles, which are completely perverted and distorted by them. But where is the way out? To rely on a new Control System and expect a miracle of the created? Or to learn to understand what is going on: to "read" the "pictures" that it shows us through the deeds of people. And realizing this, we must actively support the processes that are being formed and implemented before our eyes. It is not time that changes something, we are ahead of our time or wasting time on the wrong thing at the wrong time.

Salvation is a general and a NON-SPECIFIC concept. In order for it to take concrete forms, it is necessary to clearly understand the structure of salvation, the nature and SEQUENCE OF ACTIONS of the structures that organize it. Minimally — you need to imagine what kind of power can be salvation. What does a real savior look like? What structure should it have? What resources and capabilities should be given to them? What exactly is a certain type of state or a supranational structure? Why is this particular structure saving, and the rest are not? It is in this direction that I recommend thinking today and carefully observing what is happening before our eyes, but which our understanding is completely wrong, because those who have understood what is happening are doing everything possible and doing everything in their power so that we do NOT UNDERSTAND what is planned, and that this planned NEVER TAKES PLACE. But they DO NOT HAVE AN UNDERSTANDING that not a single person (or a group of comrades) can change anything planned within the Control System, THEY ARE NOT CAPABLE and cannot⁴.

Since there is a real attempt to dismember and colonize our country, we need to fight the supporters of the colonial version. With all the supporters who are concentrated inside the country and, most importantly, occupy, as they believe, "key positions". This requires human resources. As I. V. Stalin said: "The most valuable capital is people. Cadres decide everything!". What is needed for this? This requires people who FOUGHT WITH WEAPONS IN THEIR HANDS AGAINST THE COLONIALISTS. Where do we get them, and is there a clue in this regard. There is a hint — it is on the surface. In other words, these are people WHO PARTICIPATED in a special military operation, but were discharged due to injury, for example, or at the discretion of someone who is CLEARLY DEFINED to control and perform this task (I will not name the last name, I think the reader will understand who I am talking about) — to determine the MOST PROMINANT people who were the most effective in the conducting military operations and having organizational abilities, and — use them. Appoint them to important positions, explaining: "Guys, around you are the same enemies as they were there at the front, only much more dangerous, because there they were behind the front line, and here they are next to you. And we have to determine, identify, fight them — and win." In addition, these fighters (I'm not afraid of this definition) will have the right to create a commission to investigate ANTI-RUSSIAN ACTIVITIES and "invite" people there so that they publicly, under the cameras, answer specific questions. Invite some governor, senator or deputy Prime minister and ask him: "Why do you have a villa there?" Or: "Where did you get this from?". And then the commission ITSELF WILL MAKE A DECISION on this or that official, of course, within the framework of the new law (no matter what it will be called) or, most likely, within the framework of the Decree of the President of the Russian Federation. That's all. And we already have at least TENS OF THOUSANDS of such people. In fact, now, a NEW RUSSIAN ELITE is being formed as part of the special operation. These people — are supposed to become the elite. At one time, those who came from Afghanistan were NOT ALLOWED into power, although it should have been done even then. And now such people should not be "put into power", but INSTALLED in almost ALL key positions. But they need to be taught before these appointments or during these appointments. Where and how? And again, everything is "shown" to us. Pay attention to WHAT KIND OF CONFRONTATION is going on both with regard to who is "entrusted" with this, and with regard to the Center he is creating, already known throughout the country, which has outlined ITS TASKS⁵.

⁵ "PMC Wagner Center" is a complex of buildings that houses places for free accommodation of inventors, designers, IT specialists, experimental production and startup spaces. The Mission of the "PMC Wagner Center" is to provide a comfortable environment for generating new ideas in order to increase Russia's defense capability, including information.

The opening of such centers in other cities of our country is already being considered. And there is no need to be afraid of getting into a situation where NO ONE IS LEFT in power, because deputies and officials HAVE NOT made a decision on the ban on owning foreign real estate. But it WILL NOT make any difference anymore. They call an official, governor or oligarch and tell him: "Either you answer the questions and continue working, or you don't answer, but we immediately remove you from your post." And the oligarch will be immediately nationalized, since he is incapable of being a responsible owner of property located in our country. And so, we will have a CIRCLE OF OFFICERS in our country's nature. Of course, first of all, we need POLITICAL WILL. It is either there or not. According to the actions that I have described, it exists and has been developed. I understand perfectly well that if these "people" had been "removed" and eliminated from positions and warm places a year ago, they would have had time to unite and receive the support of the West. These groups of influence are very serious — in terms of their capabilities, money supply, and so on. They have levers, they have banks, they have companies, they have positions — ministerial, deputy prime ministers and others. And the big question is — how would the whole thing end then? However today, when the West itself is NO LONGER UNITED, when there is a desperate struggle for survival, the situation has completely changed. Therefore, the solution is simple — FIRE THEM and that's it. And there WILL BE no problems. At least there will be no sabotage. Of course, there will be mistakes. But from my reasoning, I hope it is clear who and how these mistakes will be corrected. This will happen soon enough. It is from this angle that you need to look at what is happening. We all need to discuss this, and we need to think about it and talk about it. In my opinion, there is no alternative today and there cannot be.

Alexander III once said a phrase that has been used for generations: "Russia has only two allies — its army and navy. Everyone else will betray her at the first opportunity." I will allow myself to change this statement a little for our realities: "Russia has only two allies today — people who have known war on land and people who have known war at sea...". The second part of the statement is not subject to change.

And lastly, for those who "sign up to be Drillers"...

One day the donkey said to the tiger, "the GRASS is BLUE." The tiger replied, "No, the grass is green." A dispute broke out, and they went to the lion, the king of the forest, to resolve their differences. Even before they reached the place in the forest where the lion was sitting on his throne, the donkey began to shout: "Your Majesty, is it true that the GRASS is BLUE?" The lion replied, "Yes, it's true, the grass is blue." The donkey was delighted and continued: "The tiger disagrees with me, argues and annoys me. Please punish him." The lion announced: "The tiger will be punished with five years of silence." The donkey jumped up joyfully and went on, repeating contentedly — the grass is blue, the grass is blue... The tiger, having accepted his punishment, asked the lion: "Your Majesty, why did you punish me? After all, the GRASS is GREEN." The lion replied: "Indeed, the grass is green." Surprised, the tiger asked: "Then why are you punishing me?" The lion replied: "It has NOTHING to do with whether the grass is blue or green. You received the punishment for the fact that such a BRAVE AND INTELLIGENT animal like a tiger cannot waste HIS TIME arguing with a donkey, and then also come to me with this question."

The worst waste of time is to argue with a fool and a fanatic who does not care about truth or reality at all, but only the victory of his beliefs and illusions. NEVER WASTE time on completely thoughtless mental arguments. There are some people who, no matter how much evidence and facts you provide, they are still NOT CAPABLE of understanding. And this is objective today. The only thing they want is TO BE RIGHT, although this is far from the case. When ignorance screams, the intellect is silent.

The past is leaving, the new is waiting for those who want to know it.
