

Salvation of the Saviors

(series 39-369)

Understand the goal and get the Result...

*"Theory is dry, my friend.
But the tree of life is lushly green."
Goethe. "Faust."*

Is it possible today to know our being as a whole? But the Whole is unknowable, because cognition is the separation of a cognizable object from the rest of the world and further the study of characteristics. It doesn't matter what you want to understand - neutrino or butterfly, music or galaxy, house or stone, people or politics. It is important that as long as the object of knowledge is NOT SEPARATED from the rest, its boundaries are NOT CAPTURED and NOT OUTLINED, it is impossible to understand it. The mind operates only with quantities. This is understanding. There is also a problem with understanding the Whole. It cannot be separated, because it IS EVERYTHING, which means that it has no characteristics and cannot be understood. In the traditional sense, the Whole does not exist. A paradox was drawn: the meaning of cognition, for example, the generation of the "SvetL" Complex can be considered a goal derived from the Whole. But what can be determined by the Whole, if you understand that it is impossible to know the Whole, which means the IMPOSSIBILITY of ABSOLUTE TRUTH.

Any amount of information that you tend to consider the truth (a book, an article, or any knowledge at all) is NOT the absolute truth just because you have understood it. To understand means to embrace, to set boundaries. The limited truth is NOT ABSOLUTE, BUT RELATIVE. It may be true at the moment, but IT CANNOT be general and universal. This understanding was quite enough to move forward in the development of the generation itself and, of course, the already created "SvetL" Programs, which are the target tools in solving the constantly changing tasks that arise before us in our current existence. Every step in the modernization and improvement of the "SvetL" Programs, as a Complex in solving certain problems, was a landmark. And for me, and for my team, and for users — these were stages NOT ONLY in the knowledge of the physics of the process itself, but also concrete and real recovery, real protection in the broadest sense of this understanding, real development of the users Brain and (to one degree or another) the creation of a favorable atmosphere in people's homes, cleaning of food and many other things that I wrote about in my articles — trying to convey to readers and users all the expediency of using today's generation, which is so difficult for all of us. Let me remind you that the idea of creating the SvetL Complex initially and then, having already been developed in Moscow, started as part of the final processes of constructive reconstruction of the Atmospheric energy grids into their true state and the process of pumping them (replacement during the entire Transition period) from autumn 1985 to April 2011. Naturally, all this was taken into account when N. Levashov created the Generator and Programs for it and for that period, with the intended purpose of recovery and protection.

But the running processes were "gaining" momentum, and the change in some of the parameters of TIME AND SPACE for a LIVING CELL (that is, the conditions of Life support in general, started on 19 December, 2014) was implemented on a large scale on 19 January, 2015, marking the beginning of both new medicine and new "SvetL" Programs.

On this day, I remind you, more than 8,000 programs were launched using the old Chekhov Complex. The Altai-2 complex broadcast them to the entire group of 12 pyramids of the northern Urals and to the Arctic Circle. The same thing was broadcast to the Antarctic Circle (12 pyramids), and by 19 January, the Earth was different! Few people have understood this, however, if you look at what is happening today from these positions, then much becomes clear. Instead of the old program for the development of energy biogenesis of the flesh, a new program (protoenergobiogenesis of the flesh) was launched on 21-22 December, 2014 within the framework of Space Anthropoecology. And it will operate for at LEAST X CENTURIES (and how I would like to see all of this with my own eyes ...). The reconstruction of everything that was set for life on Planet Earth for all EIGHT STAGES of its future development (now only the first one) has begun. At a more local level of changes, the system program "Fear", which was formed from 1945 to the beginning of 1990, was eliminated. Last year has already "returned" to the Earth 1,200 years of its native states — such is the speed of ONGOING CHANGES and filling new pages of the true history of our Planet.

Understanding all this, it was necessary to look for a way out of what was happening, or more precisely, a way to convey information to people, help in understanding it and, based on this, making decisions by people themselves, which is becoming extremely important today. I repeat once again — on the basis of the received and meaningful information — TO MAKE DECISIONS INDEPENDENTLY, without any hints from outside. It was necessary to look for a different way of knowing. But I DIDN'T KNOW what it meant and how to put it into practice. The only thing left was to express the hope that the search would one day provide an answer. But this hope was not justified by much, except for understanding the generation itself and the "compilation" of Programs within the framework of the tasks being solved. In addition, the search could take a lifetime and, as a result, end in nothing. During this time, unbeknownst to myself, I became a bookworm and a scribbler, whose writing books became the source of my "status".

But over time, I realized that it is possible to avoid such a prospect if you do NOT GO HEADLONG into searching for answers to ontological¹ questions, but combine theory with practice. Theory becomes MAXIMALLY EFFECTIVE when it is combined with practice. For example, you design an airplane, build it, it falls, you take into account mistakes, design a new one. It falls down again, you take into account the mistakes again and create it again. And so — until it flies.

Theory is the starting point. To take up the creation of an airplane, you first need to have a drawing of an airplane in your hands. To conduct a meaningful search, we need a goal derived from the Whole and which is the absolute truth. Without such a goal, practice is impossible. And here there is an insurmountable impasse, because there is NO ABSOLUTE TRUTH. So, what do we do?

Being guided by what is happening, understanding the physics of what is happening (perhaps not completely), but relying on information from N. Levashov, A. Khatybov, A. Luchin, N. Morozov, B. Makov and other Russian scientists, which has become my knowledge; based on the real experience of using the "SvetL" Programs; on a huge number of reviews about their work, both on improving people's health and on Flora and Fauna, I saw the only way out of my thoughts — to take as a guideline a goal above which at the moment I COULDN'T think of ANYTHING.

Such a goal is to OVERCOME DEATH. It is not absolute, at least because my knowledge tells me there is NO DEATH. It also tells me that the greatest benefit that can be extracted from life is to spend life on a cause that will outlive us. It does not follow from anything that after the death of the body, the Brain disappears (Essence, Personality, Soul — whichever is more convenient for anyone). I have already written repeatedly that in my understanding, the Brain is the most capacious of all these definitions. With full confidence, due to my knowledge of the processes taking place, I can say that the Brain (Essence, Personality, Soul) continues to exist in a different being. Religious teachings assure us that something awaits us after death (heaven/hell or nirvana). Atheistic teachings say that after death, the personality disappears into nil. All these opinions have in common the fact that they have NO BASIS. It is suggested to believe in their truth. I, and not only I, DO NOT WANT TO BELIEVE anyone's opinion today, no matter what wrappers it is wrapped in. Faith was good for the past level of development. It is unacceptable for today's level.

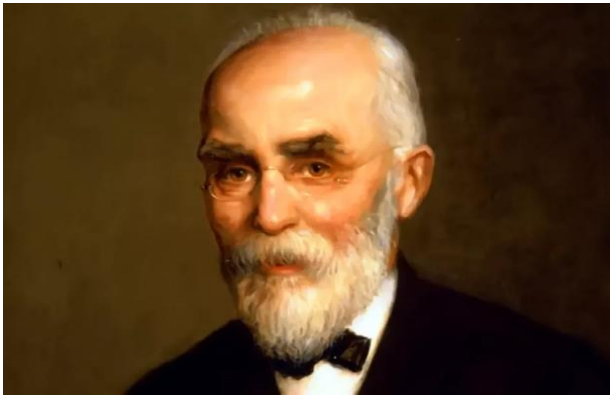

¹ The main question of ontology is "What exists?". Basic concepts of ontology: being, existing, structure, properties, forms of being (material, ideal, existential), space, time, movement. Ontological problems are built as the identification of the common in a single case, the awareness of the unity of reality and man in this reality. In accordance with the general levels of separation, being is classified into: the physical being of the world, the special manifestations of which are space and time.

In order for you to understand why I deny faith today, I will say that modern science also RELIES ON FAITH in the truth of basic postulates ("conventionalism²"). Scientists consider the truth to be what they agreed to consider the truth. If we agreed to think otherwise, the science would be different. As an example, according to Einstein, everything in the world changes: space, time, matter. It is only the speed of light that does not change. But this is NOT the CASE at all. In the environment, light does not propagate in the way prescribed by A. Einstein's "theory".

It is also known that the speed of light coming from distant stars decreases, slowing down on the galactic field medium, which causes a "red shift" in their spectra. A. Einstein did NOT TAKE the trouble to explain why H. Lorentz's³ formulas, invented by him for electromagnetic processes, can be used for such fundamental categories of physics as matter, space and time, which were considered absolute, i.e., unchanged. This should not be the case in science. For any law of physics, the scope of its application is stipulated. D. Maxwell did not know the nature of electromagnetic fields, because his electrodynamic equations turned out to be so untenable. A. Einstein, improperly using the H. Lorentz transformation, EXPANDED the SCOPE of these transformations from fields to objects and time. For an abstract construction: one coordinate system moves relative to another stationary one, what happens in it with time, the mass of bodies and their sizes? Generally speaking, there are no such systems in the world, i.e., there are no fixed systems. Our world is the essence of the movement, and ambiguities immediately made themselves felt, despite the desperately malicious defense by the powerful scientific circles, of A. Einstein's hypotheses.

² Conventionalism (from Latin conventio — agreement), a trend in the philosophy of science, according to which the basis of scientific theories are based on explicit or implicit agreements (conventions) of scientists regarding concepts, definitions, axioms, hypotheses, etc., and the choice of agreements is regulated by considerations of convenience, expediency, simplicity, aesthetic perfection, etc. The founder is considered to be A. Poincare. Based on the application of the axiomatic method in a number of mathematical disciplines, he came to the conclusion that axioms are products of agreements that do not have an experimental origin, their choice is due only to considerations of the productivity of mathematical proof. This idea was then extended by him to the field of natural science and "works", up to the present day.

This was stated by the Russian physicist A. A. Luchin, and he turned out to be right. I want to make decisions and do things based on facts. I consider it foolish to rely on someone's unsubstantiated fabrications.

The first fact: no one knows (although many believe that they know, based on what they have read in N. Levashov, A. Khatybov, etc.) what will happen to his Brain (Essence, Soul) after death, especially in today's transition processes. Maybe he will disappear to nil or go to heaven/hell, to nirvana or some other variant.

The second fact: my earthly life in today's corporeal shell will end. My body will become lifeless flesh that will be buried or burned. Almost everyone understands and knows this.

The third fact: regardless of what AWAITS us THERE, NOTHING or something, everyone would like to grow old and die by their own will, and not by someone else's. And while there is NO DESIRE to go beyond the limits of earthly life, everyone would like to stay healthy, young and alive. The answer to the question depends on the form of the question. If I ask a priest if it is possible to run, jump and wave your arms while praying silently, he will say: "You can't." If I ask if I can pray to myself during sports activities, where I run, jump and wave my arms, he will say: "You can." The answer depends entirely on the architecture of the question, NOT ON THE ESSENCE of the action. Why am I writing about this in such detail, from the point of view of a simple person who has not yet learned the works of the authors I have indicated. Because that's exactly how my thoughts "went", singling out from the main goal defined by me (overcoming death), a small part of what I started this path with (translating the learned theory into real practice in the application of the "SvetL" Programs for a decade, into the real practice of creating a "tool" with which it will be possible to go confidently to the designated goal), realizing that this is only the beginning of this path and not only for me, but for those who will follow me and with me. This will become the meaning of their life, which people are looking for and CANNOT find, because they do not have a global goal. I want to emphasize here that I did NOT "give birth" to this global and comprehensive idea. I have already written about this — for me — it came from a Person, with a capital letter — a person who justified this path and turned me in this direction, giving me objective information about the idea that I turned into my goal. This Person asked NOT to MAKE his last name public and to link him with the information presented, considering that authorship is impractical here, and the information should be for everyone and belong to everyone. He gave a lot of material in this direction, and I, of course, give and will give it to you. In my letters to him — I called him simply — the Author⁴, and he agreed with this.

⁴ "Project Russia" is a series of published books of anonymous authorship. The books were published in 2005 — 2010. At the moment, the series officially includes four books: "Project Russia", "Project Russia. Choosing the path", "Project Russia. The Third Millennium" and "Project Russia. A big idea." The following information is more significant.

Now everything should go into the real practice of step-by-step implementation and, of course, explaining to people how to bring this idea to life, making it the MAIN MEANING of their existence on our Earth. The most global processes are rapidly "unfolding" by the New Control System, and against this background, as one of the "planned" stages (in my opinion, the most important one), the process of recreating the Life Support System of people is underway. This idea (goal) could have appeared only in today's time, because it was hidden by the Old Control System, which deployed all the activities of people in the CREATION of DEATH (in the creation of numerous tools and METHODS of DESTROYING PEOPLE on our Earth, ranging from sticks, bows and arrows and ending with nuclear weapons and today's modern precision weapons, in what-that is superior to nuclear). Try to imagine the RESOURCE of EVERYTHING people have SPENT on this over the past two thousand years.

Try it! That's why I started everything with understanding, and then creating a "blueprint" for a new Complex, together with a very small team of my associates and like-minded people in the framework of solving a partial, albeit small, share in this global goal. And this fact proves once again that the "Russian Scientific and Technical Society" ("RNTS") is not an organization that exists only on paper, rather, it is a real team capable of solving very complex tasks.

Imagine your body as a house, and the world around you as a forest. You are used to the house and the forest. And so they tell you that there is ANOTHER WORLD outside the forest — a city. You don't believe it at first. One day you are persuaded to take an excursion there. You personally see a different world; it surprises you and you really like it. You are offered to move from a house to a city apartment forever. But you are NOT READY yet and go back to your forest house. Then you come to the city again and stay there to live longer. You're starting to like city life even more. And one day you decide to finally move from the old world to the new one. This happens at your request, and not because the house suddenly burned down or collapsed from old age. Similarly with the body — everyone would like to leave it of their own free will, and not because it fell apart from old age or was destroyed by chance. This was also one of the reasons for the creation of a new Complex within the framework of the task. The main thing was to realize that the process already underway would be completed in the shortest possible time, namely: the elimination of FOREIGN BASIC OCTAVES of the Interventional System's energies imported from outside, along with all its docking energies (18 basic octaves); restoration to the true state of the basic basis for the formation of spaces (cubic to tetrahedral and, later, to dodecahedral); The elimination of all previous Management, control and integrated support Systems, together with part of the complexes and facilities, etc., will complete the change in the energy and structural foundations of the environment of the entire Earth model, everything will be brought to its true native state. And all these are GLOBAL MILESTONES in solving the main goal.

The main milestone (task) for creating the "blueprint" of the New Complex, I considered the "launched" new program, the program of protoenergobiogenesis of the flesh. But between milestones, people need to live and exist and, most importantly, to CONTRIBUTE to WHAT is HAPPENING. That's why I started making a "drawing", which grew into a design capable of flying! The more intellectual resources are focused on the task (material resources are secondary), the more chances there are to find a solution. The maximum chances are given by the maximum concentration of resources (also remember that chance and guarantee are not synonyms).

Today, the entire World System is arranged in such a way that intellectual resources, and after them all the others, go NOT AGAINST DEATH, but AGAINST LIFE (for military spending, which we are seeing today not only in Ukraine, but also around the world). As long as this system has remained in place, it is in principle impossible to redirect resources in the opposite direction (from "AGAINST LIFE" TO "AGAINST DEATH"). However, it is being destroyed before our eyes with all the evidence of the processes that destroy it, practically, in all spheres of our life today. Therefore, it is necessary to help people (there is no doubt that it will not be everyone) to FIND THEIR PLACE in these transformation processes. Finding a solution gives you a chance, while inaction robs you of all hope. We are all passengers of a sinking ship named "Life". Death is approaching each of us. As surreal as it would be for passengers on a sinking ship to scatter to their cabins to clean up before THE FLOODING, it would be so ridiculous for us mortal people to ignore the approach of death, giving all our time and energy to finding money, buying things, living and entertainment.

It is appropriate to say here that I am NOT AGAINST earthly values. I look at them as a bonus on the way to the goal, but not the goal itself. If moving towards the goal requires giving up the bonus, I will refuse. I have decided on a goal and call it MY MEANING OF LIFE. I don't see anything above. Show me a higher goal, I will follow it. So far, I do not see a more effective investment of my time and effort, except in the idea of overcoming death and precisely through what I have known, already created, experienced, applied and received as a result. I do not know what I will come to and what I will get in the end. I know and I am sure that something will turn out in the direction I have chosen. Of course, it is closer to me to go to the goal than to swim without meaning in the STREAM of OLD VALUES, and I want to invite readers to follow me. That's my whole truth... If I managed to SHAKE the OLD PATTERNS that your head is full of, there is a chance that you will want to go with me beyond the horizon. If not, you will remain with your views in the old system of values and will live as you have always lived. I just want to say that the goal is achieved through changing the World System in such a way that resources go AGAINST DEATH, NOT AGAINST life.

This task determines the nature and direction of the initial practical actions, which I defined for myself as the modernization of the Complexes and "SvetL" Programs, within the framework of ongoing changes in the direction of improving people's health in this DIFFICULT time and their development (direction — brain development) to understand what is happening, to participate in these truly global changes in the World. And, of course, there will be articles (perhaps they will grow into another book) with new information about what is happening and explanations of what has already been written (not by me), but NOT YET UNDERSTOOD by you. In order to minimize speculations, provocations and nonsense around the Idea and around what I have planned as part of the implementation (at least partially), I will tell the stages (as I see it) of this path with large strokes in my articles of the 369 series.

I learned a lesson for myself for the rest of my life: NEVER ACCEPT anything on faith. Actually, that's what Nikolai Levashov said, and in unison with him — Alexander Khatybov. All information should be treated from the position of presumption of innocence. Since then, there are NO AUTHORITIES for me. If beings from other worlds appear to me tomorrow, I will NOT ACCEPT information from them either. If it comes from an unusual source, this does not mean that it is true. If tomorrow the child gives REASONABLE INFORMATION that contradicts what I know now, I will change my mind. I am not a dogmatist and I know that the truth is not froze. Today's truth, in our understanding, can become a lie tomorrow, and the truth will be what we are afraid to think about today.

As I said above, you can start creating an airplane with a drawing in your hands. Without it, no matter how huge the resources are, there is NO WAY to CREATE an airplane. I passionately wanted to act and create Programs that would repeatedly overlap what has already been created, working, and no matter what anyone tells me today, working well, benefiting people. I perfectly UNDERSTAND THE POTENTIAL of the Generator Created by the Genius (I'm not afraid of this word), N. Levashov, and I understand that I use NO MORE than half of its capabilities (if it's appropriate to evaluate it that way). The main assessment of the created and applied was the "test" for "COVID-19" (coronavirus infection), which showed, and most importantly, really convinced users of the enormous capabilities of all the "SvetL" Complexes created by that time. But a year later the question arose — what next? What to focus on? To the slogan "Take everything from life?". Or "For all the good and against all the bad?". If I DIDN'T HAVE questions from the series in front of me: What is the meaning of life? What is the world? What am I? — I would live in the current moment — everyday chores and everyday goals, believing that everything continues and that I HAVE FULFILLED what N. Levashov promised. I would consider business and politics to be the peak of human affairs. I would write about it, "resting on my laurels" of the created. Now there would be more than one hurrah in the world of a patriot, businessman or politician, filling the pause in anticipation of death. But I was FACED WITH QUESTIONS. It is impossible to go into practice WITHOUT HAVING an idea what exactly to do. Anyway, first of all you need a theory.

There is a parable about the builder of the tower, which says a lot to those who understand: "For who among you, wanting to build a tower, will not sit down first and calculate the costs, whether he has what it takes to complete it, so that when he lays the foundation and is unable to complete it, the all-seers would not laugh at him saying, 'this man started building and couldn't finish?'"⁵. B. Lenin and N. Bonaparte were guided by the principle, "the main thing is to engage in battle, and then we'll figure it out. I, too, used this principle when we set up

"New Knowledge Clubs" all over the country, named after N. Levashova.

They were effective in the moment. In a moment that lasted more than 10 years and, of course, brought tangible benefits to people, and this is the most important thing. But willingly or unwillingly, both I and the participants ignored basic questions (I'll tell you which ones later). There was speed in the dissemination of information and immediate results. However, the structure contained CONSTRUCTIVE ERRORS. When the long-term consequences of ignored problems "came out", many of us and I, of course, grabbed our heads. I realized that we had done a great job that few people in our time could do. The work of spreading information for people, which became their New Knowledge, but we DID NOT ACHIEVE the goal. The price of enjoying rapid growth is the contemplation of the death of their offspring. Whoever wants to build a skyscraper faster, and therefore builds it on the foundation for a five-story house (in the hope that he will somehow sort out and solve problems as they arrive), he will eventually observe the COLLAPSE of the STRUCTURE. You will either have to start all over again, or abandon the project. The speed of creation is proportional to the scale of what is being created. It suddenly became clear to me: the more I hurry, the more time I lose, in fact, it turns out slower. The information I gave both in books and in written articles — at most — encouraged people to create websites and groups (I have nothing to do with many of them). But what's the point of them if no one in these groups HAD ANY CONCEPT of what to do. They were sliding along the template, when a NEW TECHNOLOGY was needed. You can't go to new places by old roads. It is common for people to endow well-known technologies that have proven successful in the past with versatility. (This applies to not just "SvetL" Technologies). This is clearly noticeable among politicians.

⁵ The Gospel of Luke, Chapter 14, verses 28-30.

If leaflets and strikes gave results fifty years ago, it is believed that they will give it today. I stand on the position that new goals are achieved ONLY by NEW TECHNOLOGIES.

I AM NOT A SUPPORTER of the rule "we'll figure it out later". We WON'T FIGURE IT OUT. This is clearly demonstrated to all of us by the events that began on 23-24 February and are taking place within the framework of this event. I am sure that the Members of the Clubs will agree with me today. Before attracting people and resources, we need a CLEAR PLAN OF ACTION. It is better to DO NOTHING than to create another (incapable of anything) "political party" or "public organization", or something similar from the "association" of people who (as we have all now seen with our own eyes against the background of what began in February) have lost all their capabilities and are no longer capable of doing anything in this configuration of association.

My assistants and I do everything honestly. If nothing happens, we will have NOTHING to reproach ourselves with. We are human beings, and we tend to make mistakes. Only foolish people say that if I have changed my views once, I have NO FAITH. At one time I was close to religion and belief when I found an Icon of the Tikhvin Mother of God in America and, with the blessing of the Patriarch of All Russia, Alexy II, did everything so that she returned to Russia⁶, and then revised, by virtue of my knowledge, my attitude to both religion and Christianity. Today I speak out against any state as a form of human governance, realizing that the new society will be built on other principles that are not determined by the state. New information, and especially New Technologies, oblige us to draw new conclusions. He who is not open to the new does NOT STRIVE for the truth. It's one thing if mistakes crept in against my will, it's another thing if I saw mistakes, but hoped for a chance, starting to build something, WITHOUT UNDERSTANDING MYSELF that I'm driving off in general terms, like politicians all over the world. But with politicians (political merchants) everything is clear, their real goal is NOT WHAT they say, but to amuse self-esteem and "gingerbread" material. My goal was to answer the question "what is the meaning of life?" and subordinate my life to this goal.

⁶ Now the miraculous icon is located in the Assumption Cathedral of the Tikhvin Theotokos Assumption Monastery.

⁷ Gospel of Matthew, chapter 15 verse 1.

"If a blind man leads a blind man, then both will fall into the pit"⁷. Nikolai Levashov often used this expression. Under the pressure of this argument, I was again forced to sit down to think about the application of Programs and the capabilities of the Generator in order to try to create something universal that will absorb everything that has already been created and will bring significant benefits. The contours of the Main Idea — to DEFEAT DEATH - have not even been drawn yet. I hoped to manage all this in 2-3 months (now it's funny to remember).

It took more than two years to comprehend and create the "drawing", the final design fully manifested itself only with the appearance of my main, comprehensive idea, which, I am sure, is the most global in the world today. And then both the "drawing", and the design itself, and its capabilities in solving the problems of today — lined up as a kind of step for me and for my team in the initial understanding of the implementation of this idea, of course, within my knowledge and capabilities.

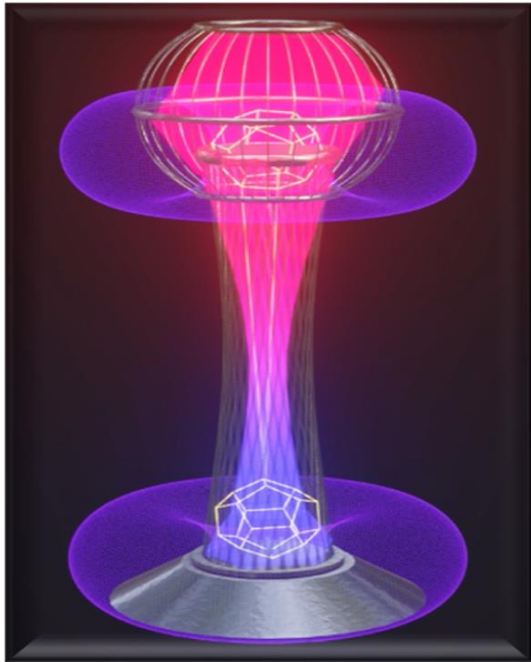

In a very approximate description, without mathematical and physical details, which for obvious reasons CANNOT be public, the design of the new Complex is a combination of technologies by Vladimir Shukhov, Nikola Tesla, calculations by A. Luchin and A. Khatybov, and of course, first of all, the Generator by Nikolai Levashov, but in a new, SIGNIFICANTLY IMPROVED embodiment of it features, relative to the completely new created programs used in it. Everyone who helped me in the implementation of this idea (the design itself is already according to the drawing and in hardware) took it for granted. For the first time, a specific goal was outlined — OVERCOMING DEATH. It did not follow from the worldview, and therefore it cannot be considered ideological.

To the extent it is impossible to light a nuclear reactor with firewood, it is impossible to create a new movement by sitting in social networks, to create something that can affect the present and at least make it easier for people today (in the full understanding of this). As it was said, a new thing NEEDS TO BE DONE with new methods. Whoever does what he has always done will get what he has always received. I wanted to get a new result. After the "departure" of Nikolai Levashov, there were many difficulties, looking back, I see that everything was not in vain! The people who came to the Clubs that were being created, who began to use the Technology out of awareness of their usefulness and not out of desperation and had an unwillingness to live the way the System offered them, OUTWEIGHED the LACK of a clear plan of action. No, there was some kind of plan, but it was more like an intention. My authority played a certain role; however, the main thing was the desire to change my life. We shot videos, wrote articles and created other content, posting it wherever possible. The results, on a comparative scale, in my opinion, are NOT SIGNIFICANT. I began to receive letters where people called my thoughts a WORLDVIEW TEACHING, and me, respectively, a Teacher (with a capital letter). This meant that many people DID NOT UNDERSTAND what I had written in my books. Probably poorly explained... I will not explain anything here (we will consider all ontological topics, if, of course, it will be interesting, after practice). I will only say that in the phrase "worldview teaching", which means knowledge of the Whole, there is as much meaning as in the phrase "square circle".

The whole cannot be grasped and understood for the same reason that it is impossible to understand non-finiteness. The word "Teacher" (the bearer of ideological teaching) has as much honor for me as the status of "representative of a square circle". You can show your thoughts as a worldview teaching, and you can be a teacher only either from a lack of understanding of the depth of the question, or from a small scale of thinking, or by pursuing prosaic things that are NOT related to the search for truth. I do not declare my thoughts as a worldview teaching, but as a teacher, because I UNDERSTAND REALITY. I draw the attention of readers — this is just MY OPINION and IT NEEDS TO BE UNDERSTOOD. You don't need to believe anything. I don't need believers, but understanding ones. "I need living companions who follow me because they want to follow themselves — and go where I want to go."⁸

Science assures us that death will be overcome in the next two or three centuries. If you're lucky, maybe even in a hundred years. Against the backdrop of historical layers - a stone's throw. But for us it's like never. If development maintains its evolutionary speed, no one living today HAS a CHANCE to live, to triumph over death. Let 's all lie down in the ground... Perhaps we are one historical step away from the goal. But it is bigger than human life. In order for everyone to have a real chance to overcome death, the human brain must make a leap — jump the historical distance separating us from a life free from death. So let's take the first step — a step in this direction, which, of course, is just a step — the main thing is to understand the goal, above which there is nothing higher today.

СВЕТΛ ∞ ВИТА

Meet the "backup" in this step — the New "SvetL-VitA" Complex. In the following 369 Series of articles, I will give more detailed information on the physics of the Complex, and how, in my opinion, to move towards the main goal that I have outlined. The Goal Vector of this process, as well as of all evolutionary processes, the life structure of people, PROVIDES FOR the following sequence in its occurrence: phenomenon — action — event. This is where we will proceed from. I am sure that we will not be afraid of the future today — we will begin and live in the future.
